

NATURALLY, no mere vote can settle that Modernists or Fundamentalists are right or wrong. But a series of votes like that by which the Baptists rejected Fundamentalism, may protest against the seating of delegates from Dr. Fosdick's church.

They are a minority, and have the rights of a minority. Neither under any ban. They should have complete recognition and tolerance, and be dealt with in peace and respect. Nobody should exercise against them the right of exclusion from recognition as Christians which they seek to exercise against others. They are Christians, and may continue to think themselves the only Christians.

But they cannot prevent others from thinking otherwise, and if those others are, as they are, the majority of the Christian world, including nearly all of those who the modern age recognizes as its leaders, they must learn to exercise the tolerance which they demand. The votes can at least settle this.

THE National Education Association proposes to continue the fight for the child labor amendment. Doubtless, except for educational purposes, that is now futile. We are in a period of reaction against reform, against Federal encroachments on the state, and against constitutional amendments of any sort, good or bad. That is a temporary state. It is a symptom of tired nerves and flabby consciences, such as always follows the emotional exaltation of war.

Time and rest will cure it. Then the child labor amendment will or will not become a practical issue according as it is or is not then practically needed. It is up to the states. If they, or any important number of them, try to get away from each other by child labor laws, Congress will inevitably be given the right to pass uniform laws for all. Let the states act now, or the nation will later.

GREECE was doubtless right in getting rid of its old dynasty, because it was the wrong dynasty. But was it right in thinking itself ready for a republic? The recent upheavals, the seizure of power by the military, the establishment of dictatorship, scarcely indicate it. "Government by the people" is more than a right. It is an achievement. It has to be earned. The ancestors—if they were the ancestors—of these Greeks earned it. Then they lost it. For centuries of friendly domination by Rome, followed by centuries of stagnation under Byzantine rule, came other centuries of Turkish oppression. For scarcely two generations there has been experience in modern government under a Western king. Now comes the sudden plunge into republican responsibility, and it is evidently a deep one. The world, which reveres the memory of ancient Greece, and is sympathetic with the aspirations of modern Greece, will hope for the best.

THE new Matson liner Malolo will have more private bathrooms than any other vessel in the world, even those much larger, like the Majestic and Leviathan. Thus, once more, America judges civilization by plumbing. Other ships have more size, more speed, or more of other comforts or luxuries. We will have more bathrooms. There will be more beauty, more art, more dignity, more tradition and sentiment, and be structurally built for the ages, instead of for one generation. What care we? Ours have more bathrooms. Our hotels may not have some of the graces of the best abroad. But they have a bath in every room. We may ourselves sometimes lack certain of the graces and finenesses of an older life.

But we have our bath every day. It is a plumbing-made civilization. The plumber is our apostle of culture.

LAUNDRY BANDITS CLUB MAN TO DEATH

2 ARRESTED IN COUNTRY CLUB WHISKEY RAID

Informed that members of the exclusive Long Beach County club at Wintersburg, between Santa Ana and Long Beach, were to hold a party, a squad of officers, headed by District Attorney A. P. Nelson and Chief Criminal Deputy Ed McClellan, last night raided the exclusive establishment, arrested the manager and chief on charges of possession of liquor, and cited five other prominent members of the club to appear in justice court here on a later date to answer charges of having liquor in their lockers.

The only man in the club at the time of the entrance of the officers who objected to the raid was Deputy Sheriff Blaisdale, of Los Angeles county, according to McClellan. The Los Angeles deputy demanded to see the search warrant and it was some time before he was satisfied that it was properly drawn, it was related. Blaisdale was not arrested.

L. A. County Different During the course of the search of the lockers, Blaisdale kept up his running fire of remarks, which were to the effect, McClellan declared, that deputy sheriffs in Los Angeles county didn't treat the country clubs like McClellan and his men, at all.

The men arrested were E. H. Cady, manager of the club, and E. P. Merrifield, chef. Cady was ordered to post $500 bail to insure appearance for trial on August 5, at 10 a. m. Merrifield pleaded for time to enter his plea and Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison allowed him two days in which to do so. Merrifield, whose goatee made him a conspicuous figure in the courtroom, was ordered to post $500 cash bail to provide his release, pending appearance. The men said they would post the money today.

Names Not Disclosed The names of the five men, whose lockers are alleged to have contained liquor, were not disclosed. The following named were members of the aiding party: District Attorney A. P. Nelson and Federal Officers Jackson and Vail. Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan, Under Sheriff Ed French, Deputy Sheriffs Dan Adams, George Spangler, LaMonte McPadden, Jack Roberts, Orin Moncrief, Joe Scott, Ray Wallace, Bradford, Joe Scott, Ray Wallace, Constables Jesse Elliott and Joe Ryan, Capt. Henry Warner and Officer Louis Heffner, of the Orange county state motorcycle squad.

SCOTT CHEERFUL AS DAY OF HANGING APPROACHES; EXPECTS TO ESCAPE NOOSE

CHICAGO, July 23.—Refusing to abandon hope, Russell Scott, former millionaire, cheerfully paced his wife, attorney and friends made an effort to save him from the gallows.

Russell played cards with the members of the death watch until 3:15 a. m., and then went to bed. He was up after five hours' sleep and smilingly reaffirmed his faith in eventual escape from the gallows.

Severe Quake Predicted For July 25-26

FAENZA, Italy, July 23.—Professor Bandanti, noted Italian seismologist, whose predictions of earthquakes in recent years have been fulfilled almost without exception, today, through the United Press, predicted a terrific earthquake in Alaska and North America on July 25 or 26. He likewise predicted a new earthquake would strike Japan on July 30.

MICHIGAN GOVERNOR APPEALS FOR STAY CHICAGO, July 23.—As the clock in Chicago ticks off the seconds remaining until Russell Scott must feel the hangman's noose encircle his neck, this city is filled with rumors of help which will come to stay the executioner's hand. It became known that Gov. J. Groesbeck, of Michigan, had wired Gov. Crazed Man Slays Wife, Twins, Self CHICAGO, July 23.—Paul Orlando, 33, today murdered his wife, Amelia, his 2-year-old twin daughters, Mary and Louise, and then killed himself. Police believe the man was crazed by repeated arguments with his wife.

Upon reports from neighbors, officers broke into Orlando's barber shop and residence and found the four bodies strewn about the floor. Three other children were safe in a bedroom.

According to police records, Orlando had been arrested a month ago on a charge of abuse, and it is believed the shooting climaxed another domestic argument.

INDIANS SUE U. S. FOR TRIBAL LANDS

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A suit for $68,707,343.47 against the United States has been filed in the federal court of claims here by Indian tribes in Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and Washington for land alleged to have been taken from them by the government. It was announced by the department of justice today. The Blackfeet, Blood, Piegan and Gros Ventre Indians, of Montana, and the Nez Perce tribe, of Idaho and Washington, charge the government took the land without their consent and without compensation, in violation of treaties.

In 1910, the Indians claim, the right to hunt, fish and cut timber in what is now Glacier National park, was revoked without their consent.

The court of claims will decide the suit, as congress at its last session conferred jurisdiction upon the court to adjust such Indian claims.

NINE MEN TRAPPED IN COAL WORKINGS

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., July 23.—Practically all hope was abandoned here late today for the rescue alive of nine men, trapped by a terrific explosion a mile and a half from the surface of the Roane iron and coal company's mine.

No headway had been made against the debris piled up in the main shaft 10 hours after the blast.

W. J. Snow, superintendent of the mine, had gone there with a crew of men to fight a fire that had been raging for hours. They had been there the greater part of Wednesday night and all were trapped by the explosion.

2 Die When Auto Strikes Caboose

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Ledges Henderson, 30, of Los Angeles, and M. H. Austin, of Los Angeles, were killed early today when their automobile crashed into the caboose of a Santa Fe freight train near Whittier. The automobile struck the caboose with such force that the bodies of the men were hurled through the air almost a hundred feet.

Financing of Santa Ana's proportion of the cost of extension must necessarily be effected by a bond issue, it was intimated today by J. W. Tubbs, mayor. JOINT SEWER ORDERED TO BE EXTENDED

State Gives Outfall District Until June 1, 1927, to Lengthen Disposal Line AT COST OF $221,048

Health Board Rules Waste Must Be Emptied at Least 2900 Feet from Shore

THE city councils of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton, and board of trustees of the sanitary districts of Garden Grove, Placentia and La Habra will meet in joint session in the council chambers of this city Monday night, for consideration of a situation in the joint outfall sewer, developing through receipt of the Santa Ana council, of notice by the state board of health of the permit issued for disposal of sewage in the ocean.

Revocation was followed with issuance of a temporary permit, granting Santa Ana the right to operate the present joint outfall until June 1, 1927, the temporary permit carrying an order of the state board, directing that the outfall be extended into the ocean far enough to overcome beach pollution and nuisance, and not less than 2900 feet off shore into 40 feet of water at low tide. The extension must be completed and in use by June 1, 1927. The permit to discharge sewage into the ocean was issued to Santa Ana, the city thus becoming responsible for other cities in the joint enterprise.

In brief, the order means that the cities and sanitary districts interested in the joint outfall must take steps to complete, by June 1, 1927, an extension of the line into the ocean that will involve an expenditure of $221,048.58, according to estimates of costs made by W. G. Knox, former city engineer for Santa Ana, and at president engineer for the joint bodies in charge of the main outfall line.

Investigations Made The estimates are based on investigations made by Knox over a long period of time, and on an extension of the outfall line 2300 feet into the ocean and into 47 feet of water.

Apportionment of the estimated cost to the different communities, and the percentage of the capacity of the outfall owned by each, has been made by Knox as follows: Santa Ana, 45.5 per cent, $100,577.10; Anaheim, 15.47, $34,196.22; Fullerton, 15.47, $34,196.22; Orange, 14.56, $32,184.67; Garden Grove, 2.5, $5526.21; Placentia, 2.5, $5526.21; La Habra, 4, $8841.94.

Knox said today that cast iron pipe would be laid in a trench on the bottom of the ocean. He declared that investigations had disclosed that the bed of the ocean had been raising for hours. They had been there the greater part of Wednesday night and all were trapped by the explosion.

Financing of Santa Ana's proportion of the cost of extension must necessarily be effected by a bond issue, it was intimated today by J. W. Tubbs, mayor. Under the order of the state board of health, the funds must be available by June 1, 1926. COOLIDGE BUSY ON TAX REDUCTION PROGRAM TO LOP OFF 500 MILLIONS

(By United Press) SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 23.—Proposal for a tax reduction which would lop off $500,000,000 from the returns of income taxpayers probably will be announced formally by President Coolidge before he leaves the summer White House early in September for Washington.

Conferences now going on with Senator Curtis, Republican whip, and later conferring with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and other leaders, will enable the president to set an approximate figure for the tax committee of congress to aim at in drafting the new tax bill in September and October, it was learned today.

The president is expected to set a figure much higher than the $400,000,000 he estimated in June, so that the committee will recognize the change in the situation and act accordingly.

Two factors will permit Mr. Coolidge to set a larger figure than heretofore anticipated. They are:

1.—The $250,000,000 treasury surplus on July 1, which was nearly $100,000,000 more than expected.

2.—The fact that "tax reduction" actually tends to increase revenue, as frequently pointed out by Secretary Mellon, whose analyses show that a larger number of returns and larger incomes are reported when the tax rates are lower.

It has been practically determined, it was understood, that the administration will favor an effort for a maximum surplus of around 20 per cent and will not compromise on anything more than 25 per cent. The present maximum is 40 per cent.

AMERICAN FLEET GIVEN ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME ON VISIT TO AUSTRALIA

(By United Press) SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 23.—Sailors from the U. S. fleet swarmed the city's streets today, enjoying liberty after the long trip from Hawaii to Australia.

The city was turned over to the visitors, with scores of entertainments planned during the friendly visit. The grand welcome of the fleet was bathed in bright sunshine as the vessels steamed through the heads half an hour before landing.

Cliffs were lined with hundreds of thousands, while gaily decorated aircraft and yachts encircled the ships. Two thousand sailors marched through the streets between lines of cheering spectators.

Admiral Robison, replying to addresses of welcome, said: "We deem ourselves especially favored in visiting your country, which has bred men who at Gallipoli and in France covered themselves with imperishable glory. We feel it a privilege to mingle with this great English-speaking commonwealth."

The fleet division that went to Melbourne has its welcome slightly dampened by wet gales that arose shortly before arrival.

Admiral Coontz, fleet commander, in an interview said that the recent Hawaiian maneuvers were very instructive, but much more important from the international viewpoint is the authorization visit with the privilege it gave Australians to become acquainted with the fleet and learn of the friendly feeling America has for this country.

WHITTIER MAN KILLS WIFE AS KIDDIES SLEEP

(By United Press) LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Marking the third murder and attempted suicide in Los Angeles county within two days, James McKibbin, 56, a steam engineer, early today shot and killed his wife, Della, aged 40, on the lawn of their home in Whittier, then attempted to kill himself, according to police reports.

Following a quarrel yesterday evening, the McKibbins went for a walk in Turnbull canyon. There the quarrel was resumed. McKibbin is alleged to have fired a shot at his wife. The bullet went wild and Mrs. McKibbin ran. A few seconds later another shot rang out. Mrs. McKibbin notified the police she believed her husband had committed suicide.

Police went to search for the supposed body and the wife started home. As she was about to enter the house, McKibbin dragged her to the lawn, where he sent a bullet through her heart, police reported. McKibbin then turned the gun on himself, but a bullet fired into his chest was deflected by a rib. He was taken to a hospital and is expected to recover.

BANDITS KILL U. S. SUBJECT AND SERVANT

Organizer of Manchurian Development Company Victim of Outlaw Gang

DOCTOR IS CAPTURED

Head of Optical Department of Rockefeller Institute in Peking Held

(By United Press) PEKING, July 23.—While defending his experimental ranch on the Sungari river, near Harbin, Morgan Palmer, American organizer of the Manchurian Development company, was killed by bandits, as was his servant.

Dr. Harvey Howard, head of the optical department of the Rockefeller institute, Peking, has been imprisoned by the Chinese consul at Harbin in making representations to the American consul at Harbin.

The American consul at Harbin is making representations to the American consul at Harbin.

Officials here were inclined to absolve the Peking government from any direct responsibility, since it has only nominal control over the Sungari region. That area has long been a kind of no man's land, infested by desperadoes.

"Official confirmation of United Press reports of the killing by Chinese bandits of Palmer and capture of Dr. Howard, was received at the state department here at 10:30 a. m. today.

The Palmer case added necessity for bringing about a strong Peking government. This demand will be included in the answer which the United States and the powers are about to make to the recent Chinese note asking for abolition of extra-territoriality.

Officials were waiting today for definite replies from Great Britain and France, accompanying the American proposal for the joint commission to study gradual elimination of foreign extra-territorial rights in China as a means of stemming the anti-foreign revolt.

FOUNDATION HEARS OF DOCTOR'S PLIGHT

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Rockefeller foundation received a cablegram today stating that Dr. Harvey Howard, head of the ophthalmological section of the Union Medical college, at Peking, allied with the foundation, had been captured by bandits near the junction of the Amur and Sungari rivers, Manchuria.

His son, James, was reported safe.

The American consul at Harbin has taken up the case, said the message, while B. S. Greene, of the chemical board, the doctor's superior, had proceeded northward to investigate.

Dr. Howard is a graduate of the Universities of Michigan, 1904, and Pennsylvania, 1908. He was for some time engaged in his professional work at Canton and has been with the Rockefeller organization in Peking since 1911.

PAYROLL LOSS OF $15,000 IS BEING PROBED

Postal authorities started an investigation today of the alleged theft of a $15,000 money package from the mail car of the Pacific Electric company, while the consignment was being transported from the federal reserve branch in Los Angeles to the First National bank at Brea.

Loss of the package occurred four weeks ago and since that time secret inquiry into the case has been carried on by postal authorities.

First intimation of the loss was made today in announcement that the investigation had brought no results and that the scope of the search is to be extended. Police aid has not been sought, but open moves are being made for fixing the responsibility.

The consignment was being sent to the Brea bank to supply funds for paying the checks of oil workers of that section. Twice each month packages are sent to Brea from the federal reserve branch.

Postal officials said that in the package were 100 pounds of silver and they suspect that if the money was stolen, the thief detected the consignment by its weight.

J. F. Waggoner, of Los Angeles, traffic agent for the Chicago and Great Western railroad, and F. M. Saunders, traveling freight representative of the Pennsylvania railroad system, transacted business in Santa Ana yesterday.

Herman Johnson, employee of the Orange County garage, 710 Minter street, is leaving tomorrow via the Union Pacific route for Stromsburg and Grand Island, Neb.

Frank Cannon, of the postoffice force, Mrs. Cannon and their son, Lonan Cannon, of 615 South Birch street, have returned from their vacation, one week of which was passed in the Charles F. Mitchell cabin at Camp Angeles, in the San Bernardino mountains, and one week at Santa Monica.

JOINT SEWER IS ORDERED EXTENDED

The state board that the outfall must be extended, came notice that the state board, at its meeting in San Francisco, on August 15, would take steps to authorize the guaranteeing of two miles of the beach each way from the sewer outlet, for the purpose of protecting bathers against possible contraction of disease by bathing in water polluted by sewage.

According to Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer and director of the Santa Ana health department, under a contract between the city and the county, analyses of ocean water have shown the presence of colon bacillus, or typhoid germ. The state board directs establishments of quarantine limits to cover the zone containing 10 or more B. Coli per c. c., and that the beach be effectively placarded within the quarantine zone. The county health officer said that the sewage did not carry a larger percentage of germs than does the average sewage, and that, if the quarantine order is made effective it will be done as a health precaution.

Chemical Plant Waste
Knox said today that extreme contamination, and particularly discoloration of ocean water by sewage, was due in a large measure to wastes from the alcoholic plant of the Crystal Chemical company, at Anaheim. The company, he said, is now arranging to take care of its waste into the sewer line.

Concerning this waste, the state board of health says, in a report submitted with the notices: "The character of the sewage discharged into the outfall has become distinctly industrial, due principally to wastes discharged from the Crystal Chemical plant, which greatly overburdens the natural purification. Analyses  show the beach to be polluted as much as two miles east and two miles west of the point of discharge, thereby causing pollution of bathing beaches."

The report was written by R. F. Goudey, resident engineer for the state board of health, who is well known in Santa Ana through his long service here during the epidemic in the early part of 1924.

Speaking of the conditions responsible for the order directing extension of the outfall, Goudey says:

Discharges On Surface
"The outfall, instead of being constructed 800 feet beyond the high water line, was constructed only 600 feet beyond the present actual high water mark, and instead of discharging into nine feet of water at mean tide it discharges into only six and three-fourths feet of water at mean tide. This means that at low tide the submergence is about three feet and that the present outfall is discharging sewage into the surface of the ocean close to the shore. * * * The sewage flow is double that which the actual ocean end of the outfall was proposed to serve. Both Santa Ana and Anaheim have grown considerably faster than originally anticipated, and to this has been added the population of Fullerton, Garden Grove, La Habra, Orange and Placentia. * * *

"The present outfall extends into the ocean just west of the camp at the Santa Ana river. This jetty was extended 400 feet beyond high water mark. It now extends about 200 feet beyond high water mark. The effective length of the outfall has therefore been decreased 200 feet."

In the opinion of Knox, extension on the line 2300 feet will carry the sewage far enough into the ocean so that sewage developing from 300,000 population properly could be taken care of and without pollution of the ocean water or damage to the shore line nearby.

PARK QUESTION DISCUSSED BY C. OF C. BOARD

"A park for Santa Ana before Christmas."

That is the slogan which has been adopted by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, following reports of the park and playground committees, both city and inter-city, before the board of directors today.

The report, together with discussion on advisability of floating a municipal bond issue for parks, discussion of proposed locations and other plans, took up almost all the time allotted for the directors' meeting, held at 9 a. m. in the new chamber of commerce building.

To Determine Cost
A motion instructing the inter-city committee and the city committee on parks to determine what prices certain proposed sites can be purchased for, with instructions to report back at the next meeting, was passed unanimously by the board.

Several members of the Orange Chamber of Commerce, who are members of the inter-city park committee, were present at the meeting and discussed certain properties, which they regarded as favorable sites for a proposed park to be used jointly by Santa Ana and Orange.

"We want to co-operate with Santa Ana and we know that Santa Ana wants to co-operate with us on the park proposition," declared Mike Elliste, of Orange. "It's just a question of getting together and buying a site that both cities can use advantageously," he said.

Two City Parks
A plan whereby Santa Ana would acquire two city parks, other than the inter-city park, also was discussed by the board of directors.

The directors declared that they thought it advisable to secure prices on two sites, one on the north side of the city and the other on the south side.

It was agreed that a bond issue for a park on one side of the city without provision for a park on the other side would not be a success.

Members of the board declared that the chamber of commerce "meant business" in giving Santa Ana a park in the shortest possible time and that "a park for Santa Ana before Christmas" is not idle talk.

Now! how about Floor Coverings?

Come, See This New Shipment of Fine Rugs

You can, at all times, find at Chandler's one of the most extensive stocks of rugs in Southern California. However, we welcome you now to a first showing of patterns that surpasses all past efforts to give you the widest range of selection and the utmost in value.

Come, then, and see the line in its entirety whether to buy or to just look around and gather new ideas.

When you select floor coverings for your home it is very important to bear in mind that they must withstand severe usage. In fact, your rugs receive greater wear than any other item of home furnishings.

Therefore floor coverings which are bought on the basis of price alone will certainly prove the most expensive in the long run.

Honest, genuine quality must be woven into each rug to insure lasting satisfaction.

The safe way, then, to buy rugs is to make your selections at a store which deals in rugs and floor coverings of nationally advertised and nationally recognized quality.

We are showing the latest patterns from some of America's leading looms, including Whittall's, Sanford's and others.

Included in this notable showing you will find Anglo-Persians, America's finest rugs—together with two other types of Wilton's, Body Brussels, seamless Chenille, etc. We also carry in stock 9 ft., 10½ ft. and 12 ft. widths of plain carpet from which rugs of any length may be made.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

WHEN THE EVENING IS HOT

Correct dress is not akin to a muffler that one put on in winter and takes off in summer, and forgets about from April to September. The rules governing good form in one's appearance cannot be suspended at the whim either of the weather or the wearer. Society, whether you spell it with a capital S or with a small letter, makes certain demands, within his sphere, upon every man, unless, like Robinson Crusoe, he dwells upon a desert island, or unless, as the poet mourned, "I was born in a cellar and live in a garret." It is true that minor lapses from correct usage are not noticed as much during the heated term when comfort is the cardinal consideration. This, however, is the thinnest of all excuses for not being turned out as befits a gentleman. The Well-Dressed man is not well-dressed for others' attention or admiration, but for his own gratification and approbation. He knows that self-conscience has a tongue more biting than any critic's.

Your Tuxedo suit should be worn at any gathering after 6 p. m. which is formal or semi-formal and at which women are present, such as the evening dance. It may be cut single-breasted or double-breasted, with dark-gray or double of black or natural in color. The lapels are shawl lapels. The double-breasted single-button model, portrayed in the accompanying sketch, is smart and trim-looking, especially upon a young man who has kept his waistline in subjugation.

The coat of such a suit is about 30 inches long. The trousers measure from 19½ to 20 inches at the knee and 17 inches to 18 inches at the bottom. The back of the coat may be flapped or flapless. The pockets are flapped, slightly, though not sharply. The shoulders are natural in contour. The lapels are silk or satin-faced to the edge. If the waistcoat must be omitted for the sake of coolness upon a sultry night, one's coat is, of course, worn buttoned. However, a sash of black surah silk, folded into narrowness, is sometimes worn to hide the ugly line of demarcation between shirt and trousers-tops when the waistcoat is left off.

The turn-down collar, shown here, is only a concession to comfort and popular opinion in some sections. The right collar is the wing, and it is so recognized in all metropolitan centers. Such combinations as a double-breasted blue jacket with white flannel trousers, or a Tuxedo coat with white flannels and the like are not correct evening dress for Summer. They are mere makeshifts, which may pass muster in the mountains or at the shore, but which are nevertheless improper.

The double-breasted single-button model, portrayed in the accompanying sketch, is smart and trim-looking, especially upon a young man who has kept his waistline in subjugation.

The coat of such a suit is about 30 inches long. The trousers measure from 19½ to 20 inches at the knee and 17 inches to 18 inches at the bottom. The back of the coat may be flapped or flapless. The pockets are flapped, slightly, though not sharply. The shoulders are natural in contour. The lapels are silk or satin-faced to the edge. If the waistcoat must be omitted for the sake of coolness upon a sultry night, one's coat is, of course, worn buttoned. However, a sash of black surah silk, folded into narrowness, is sometimes worn to hide the ugly line of demarcation between shirt and trousers-tops when the waistcoat is left off.

The turn-down collar, shown here, is only a concession to comfort and popular opinion in some sections. The right collar is the wing, and it is so recognized in all metropolitan centers. Such combinations as a double-breasted blue jacket with white flannel trousers, or a Tuxedo coat with white flannels and the like are not correct evening dress for Summer. They are mere makeshifts, which may pass muster in the mountains or at the shore, but which are nevertheless improper.

Correct dress is not akin to a muffler that one put on in winter and takes off in summer, and forgets about from April to September. The rules governing good form in one's appearance cannot be suspended at the whim either of the weather or the wearer. Society, whether you spell it with a capital S or with a small letter, makes certain demands, within his sphere, upon every man, unless, like Robinson Crusoe, he dwells upon a desert island, or unless, as the poet mourned, "I was born in a cellar and live in a garret." It is true that minor lapses from correct usage are not noticed as much during the heated term when comfort is the cardinal consideration. This, however, is the thinnest of all excuses for not being turned out as befits a gentleman. The Well-Dressed man is not well-dressed for others' attention or admiration, but for his own gratification and approbation. He knows that self-conscience has a tongue more biting than any critic's.

Your Tuxedo suit should be worn at any gathering after 6 p. m. which is formal or semi-formal and at which women are present, such as the evening dance. It may be cut single-breasted or double-breasted, with dark-gray or double of black or natural in color. The lapels are shawl lapels. The double-breasted single-button model, portrayed in the accompanying sketch, is smart and trim-looking, especially upon a young man who has kept his waistline in subjugation.

Don't risk another failure with your

Jams and Jellies

THERE is no reason today for holding your breath while you wait to see if your jam or jelly is going to set.

When you use Certo there is not the slightest chance of failure.

For Certo is itself the element that makes fruit-jell—taken from the fruits that are richest in it. Some fruits never have this jelling property; in all fruits it grows less as they ripen. So you've often had bad luck before with fully ripe fruit.

But good luck is sure every time when you add Certo. You can use the luscious ripe fruits now.

And you only need to boil the fruit one minute. Think how much time Certo saves you.

Think how much fruit juice it saves you, too, that used to boil away during the long old-fashioned "boiling down." With Certo you make half again as many glasses from your fruit.

Order Certo today from your grocer. A booklet with each bottle gives nearly 100 recipes for delicious jams, jellies and marmalades. Douglas-Pectin Corp., Granite Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.

DRAWS MAP OF PROPOSED NEW CENTURY BOULEVARD PARALLELING P. E. TRACKS

Warren Hillyard, county surveyor, today announced that he had completed a map for that portion of the proposed Century boulevard between Santa Ana and Watts lying in Orange county.

As tentatively planned, the highway will parallel the Pacific Electric tracks to Watts, and will continue west from Watts on One Hundredth avenue. Los Angeles, with traffic being distributed from the avenue to the various streets running north into Los Angeles. Promoters of the new thoroughfare have in mind relief from the congested condition of the present connections between Santa Ana and Los Angeles. The road is to be 100 feet wide and a 30 or 40-foot section will be paved.

By Assessment Plan.
Opening and paving of the highway will be under the assessment district plan, and after completion the highway may be taken over for maintenance by the state highway commission. According to reports, the highway commission has advised that it cannot consider at this time suggestions that it give financial assistance to the proposition.

Committees of the various communities through which the road would pass are marking time temporarily, according to H. A. Lake, of Garden Grove, chairman of the committee from that town, pending a court test of the legality of the Mattoon bill, passed by the legislature during its last session.

This bill embodies some of the best provisions of other laws pertaining to street openings and assessment districts, it is declared. It provides for zones within an assessment district for the purpose of assessing benefits and damages, and also contains provisions by which rights-of-way may be acquired and work started without possible long court procedures in condemnation action at present available to those who may be opposed to a proposed street improvement.

700 Feet From Railway.
Inspection of the map at the surveyor's office discloses that the route of the Century boulevard has been placed 700 feet west and south of the rights-of-ways of the railway company. The route through Los Angeles county follows the same position with reference to the tracks, but will cross to the north side at some point between the boundary line and Watts.

It was of interest to note that in passing through Garden Grove the surveyed route will touch the Women's clubhouse, cutting off 15 feet of the northeast corner of the building, the corner being 35 feet from the center line of the 100-foot road. The Edison plant also will be touched.

The map contains the names of all the owners of lands through which the highway will pass, together with the location of buildings and other information that will be of assistance in determining possible costs and whether the route is the most economical that could be developed.

The proposed route has not been approved as yet by either the committees or the boards of supervisors of the two counties.

NEW AUDITORIUM WILL OPEN SOON

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—A sportsmen's palace, the Olympic auditorium, will throw open its 18 entrances for the first time the latter part of this month. "The Madison Square Garden of the west" will be the finest "mansion of maul" on the Pacific coast, according to its designers. The auditorium is copied after the National Sporting club, in London, and the famous arena in New York. Opera chairs with 55 coils to the seat, a ventilating system that changes the air in the entire building every 35 seconds, and numerous exits which will enable a full house to clear out in four minutes, are some of its advantages.

It will be used for boxing bouts, wrestling matches, basketball games and other sports, grand opera concerts, trade shows, conventions, and other civic affairs probably will be staged there also.

Jack Root, general manager of the new auditorium, was the first living heavyweight champion of the world. He will be assisted in matchmaking by Tom S. Andrews, Milwaukee. The pair plan to stage only the highest class of boxing, and occasionally put on a world championship event. The contractors originally promised to complete their work by July 15, but a delay has caused the opening to be postponed until about August 1.

Complaints alleging violation of the state motor vehicle act, for the most part offenses involving alleged speeding, were on file today in the office of the district attorney. The following were named as defendants:

Barnes, 5406 Fountain avenue, Los Angeles; Alice Edler, 218 East Third street, Los Angeles; F. W. Edgerton, 1625 West Kingsley drive, Los Angeles; W. E. Kniesel, 2042 Kearney avenue, San Diego; R. W. Rockwell, San Diego; E. H. Edwards, 1689 West Twenty-third street, Los Angeles.

CONGRESSMEN ARE TO INSPECT COUNTY HARBOR

Members of the congressional committee on rivers and harbors will visit Newport bay while on the tour of Pacific ports in October, it was learned today at offices of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, at Newport Beach.

A communication from the office of Phil D. Swing, at San Diego, gave definite word that the party of congressmen would journey to California this fall. Several members have already arranged for the trip and special invitations have been extended to the entire committee of 23 members to go on the tour.

One day will be devoted to the inspection of Orange County Harbor, according to plans. It is hoped to interest the congressmen in development of the proposed commercial and pleasure port for this section.

Special arrangements are under way to entertain the visiting delegation. The tour will include the ports at Los Angeles, Long Beach, Newport and San Diego. Congressman Walter F. Lineberger, of Long Beach, will have charge of the arrangements for the tour.

Old Log Proves To Be Valuable

CANNON BEACH, Ore., July 23.—An old log which campers and vacationists built fires against for years on the beach here was recognized by George Walker as a section of redwood of great value.

Walker set to work and spent two days with a team and scraper, getting it out of the sand. His friends thought he had gone crazy.

He estimates that he has taken from it nearly $3000 worth of lumber, including 30 circular dining room table tops, worth approximately $75 each.

Natives said the log had been lying in the same place for years. Louis Burke said he saw it there as long ago as 1877.

Its special value lay in that it was "curly" redwood, containing wood of whorled grain.

Why Blankets and Comforts Need Washing Now

Our ideas about many familiar things develop as we move along. If blankets and comforts were washed once in a twelvemonth a century ago, our forefathers thought it was sufficient.

Now we know that these bed-clothes become soiled, even if to the eye they may seem sanitary enough.

If you would have your blankets and comforts as spotless and immaculate as your other bed linen, send them to us. We employ a special method of laundering that makes them light and fresh, that gives them a wonderful fluffiness.

Our method of drying frees blankets and comforts from every impurity—gives to them the feel and look that nature bestows when they are dried in the sunshine on a summer's day.

Send us such of your blankets and comforts as you can spare next time our driver calls for your family washing. Or telephone, and we will have our man stop in when next he visits your neighborhood.

Betrothals Weddings Reception

Surprise In Store
For Home Coming
Of Newlyweds

When Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hardcastle, who were married Saturday evening at the First Christian Church by Rev. Porter and who have been spending a short honeymoon at Catalina Islands, return this evening they will find their future home on 415 South Ross street in the midst of upheaval, disorder and chaos.

Perhaps this cool weather has given their friends an added zest in joke-playing, but whatever may be the reason it is sufficient to say that the Hardcastles will enter a home this evening, which to the expression of their friends "is more than a sight."

Only the immediate family of the bride and groom and close friends were present at the wedding, which took place at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. The bride wore a lovely creation of blue georgette, with circular panels in pastel shades and an orchid picture hat, while her flowers were white roses and orchids.

Those attending the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Hurlburt, and Miss Pearl Christensen and Leon Cramer, all of Santa Ana. The bride before her marriage was Miss Rose Christensen and is employed as bookkeeper at the Reo Sales company, while the groom is in the drapery business of the Horton Furniture company.

At a quiet home wedding this week, Miss Nellie Kingley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Kingley, Newport, was married to Arden Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long, Costa Mesa. Rev. J. H. Engle, Newport, read the marriage vows in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom and a number of close and intimate friends.

The Kingley home was lovely with large bowls of lavender hyacinths and following the ceremony light refreshments were served.

After a short honeymoon spent at Big Bear the young couple will be at home to their friends at Nineteenth street, a short distance from Newport boulevard.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Kingley, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mollett and Ethel Kingley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long, Harold Long, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith and son Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ray and son Charles and Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Engle.

Britons Tire of Limited Drinking

LONDON, July 23.—English clubs are getting weary of the enforcement of restricted hours for drinking.

Since the war the hours during which the club bars may be operated have been restricted to nine hours in London clubs and eight hours in country clubs. This has usually been broken up into two periods; the first during the noon hours and the second during the evening hours.

Now it is proposed to introduce a bill in parliament restoring the pre-war right of clubs to determine for themselves the hours during which alcohol refreshments may be served members. The question has been the subject of a series of conferences recently between club officials representing about 500,000 club officials. The total club vote in the country is estimated at about 2,000,000.

The next step is to take a plebiscite of all club members on the matter of the restoration of the pre-war rules as to drinking, and if this favors the restoration, to press parliament for more liberal laws as to hours of drinking.

Planned in a novel manner and carried out to perfection was the surprise farewell shower given Tuesday evening for Mrs. R. D. Garner, by Mesdames Joseph Head, R. R. Caldwell and John McCarty at the Garner home.

The affair came as a complete surprise to the honored guest, who is making plans for her departure for Redlands, where she and her husband and little two-month-old daughter Dorothy Irene will make their future home.

Garner has lived in Santa Ana for six years or more and in that time have made many friends and acquaintances who will deeply regret their departure. Mr. Garner was employed with the Chandler furniture store in this city and will continue his work with this same firm in Redlands.

The evening was gleefully spent in writing little farewells "billet-doux" to be opened at various intervals by Mrs. Gardner after she has left Santa Ana.

The guests who numbered twenty or more presented Mrs. Garner with a lovely array of gifts for her little daughter, Dorothy Irene.

At the close of the evening, dainty refreshments were served. Among those who attended were Mesdames Thomas Kistinger, Ray Brown, C. E. Pryor, John Launsberry, A. McGarrath, E. Phill, John Turton, Berry Ballard, Ernest Ridenour, R. Lutes, Signey Saunby, M. Golden, and Harold Smith.

Mr. Gardner is already living in Redlands and soon as the hot weather is over, Mrs. Garner will join him.

Haste Makes Waste When Marrying

Whether Cupid was instrumental in playing a joke on a Los Angeles young couple or whether the blame should be attached to the lawmakers of Orange county is the question to consider in writing this tale.

In the movies one of the hackneyed themes is that of the lovers making a dash for liberty and trying to find a minister or priest to tie the marriage knot.

In this tale, the "love-birds" traveled several hundred miles and at 11 o'clock at night were married in Santa Ana by Father Eumelen.

Now it all happened like this: Miss Elizabeth Agnes Brady and Harry Henderson of Los Angeles, who had been visiting in San Diego planned to be married Tuesday in Los Angeles. In order to save time, they decided to get their marriage license in Santa Ana. And so without a doubt in their minds that the license would be valid outside of Orange county, they happily went on their way.

They arrived in due time in Los Angeles, made their way to the priest and much to their chagrin discovered they could not be married in Los Angeles with an Orange county license. The Los Angeles bishop, however, gave them a letter to the priest in Anaheim and this letter was also applicable to Father Eumelen in Santa Ana.

When they got to Anaheim, the priest was away and so the only thing left to do was to drive on to Santa Ana. Which they did. Arriving here at 11 o'clock Tuesday evening, and so they were married by the Santa Ana priest with the taxi driver and housekeeper as witnesses.

Moral: Haste means waste when marrying.

Fishing Business Wanes In Illinois

ALTON, Ill., July 23.—The fishing industry here is on the wane, according to local fishermen.

In former years, there were as many as 50 fishermen at work on the local river front and a large quantity of fish was shipped out. Now there are only a few fishermen and it is difficult to meet even the local needs.

MUSIC PRODIGY IS INTRODUCED AT TEA

Coming as an unusual treat in society circles in Santa Ana during the lull in the summer season was the delightful and entertaining musicale and tea given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. M. M. Holmes in honor of her sister, Mrs. Otis Hoyt of Long Beach and to introduce to her Santa Ana friends her young niece, Miss Eleanor Nesheim, Moorehead, Minnesota, who is her aunt's houseguest for July and August.

Most time and attention was placed on the small details of the affair with the result that those fortunate to attend thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon of music, cordially and friendliness.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature was the remarkable playing of one of the honored guests, Miss Eleanor Nesheim, who although is only sixteen years old is an accomplished pianist and teacher.

Those who heard her yesterday declared her future in the music world was assured for her technique and interpretation of her not only classic numbers but her own compositions, was nothing short of genius.

Not only in musical circles, does the young woman excel but also in educational fields for in graduating this spring from the Moorehead high school she was the valedictorian of her class.

Assisting Mrs. Holmes in the receiving line were her daughters, Mesdames Max C. Holmes, Edna Holmes assisted. The Misses Virginia Hoyt, Dorothy Holmes, nieces of the hostess, served the refreshments.

Gorgeous bouquets placed on the various tables and nooks throughout the living room added a festive touch to the scene with their fragrance and beauty.

Among some of the numbers, which are marked favorites in classical music, were "Sonata" by Grieg; "Gavotte," D'Albert; "Butterfly," Grieg; dance from "Ar. mor-Brugo," De Falle; "Novellette," MacDowell; and "Polonaise," Chopin.

The prodigy (who outside of her remarkable genius, is a charming young girl) has not as yet named her two own compositions. The two she played yesterday were splendid for their rhythm, melody and composition.

Others on the program, who through their endeavors rounded out the success of the musical were Mrs. H. M. Sammis who sang, "I Bring To You Her Heart," "Brascombe," and "I Want To Be Ready," an entertaining negro spiritual, which was enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Morris Enderle in her usual charming manner presented two readings. A clever, scintillating number was the "Girl and the Grocery Boy," while "Lessons With A Fan," was equally as amusing.

House Guest Is Honored With Dinner Party

In compliment to her houseguest, Mrs. Earl Hunt, New York city, Mrs. John McCarty, 610 West Washington, was hostess last evening at a beautiful appointed dinner party at her home.

Mrs. McCarty chose as her color scheme for the home and table decorations the lovely combination of orchid and yellow. This was carried out very effectively with orchid candle holders and the yellow candles and small bowls of yellow lilies and orchid flowers.

Following the serving of the perfectly appointed menu, the guests enjoyed an evening of music and sociability. Mrs. Earl Hunt, the honored guest, is an accomplished musician having studied voice under some of the well known teachers and professors in New York city. She possesses a charming soprano voice of wide range and plans to enter concert work this coming fall.

Her accompanist, Mrs. Ben Neal of Los Angeles, who was also present at the affair, assisted her in presenting a rare program of musical numbers.

Last week the artists presented a concert in the Trinity auditorium, which was very well attended. Those present at the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCarty, brother and sister-in-law of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Neal and Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Thompson.

EXTENSION OF GAS MAINS AT MESA SOUGHT

COSTA MESA, July 23.—Extension of the gas mains to supply the first addition in the Newport Heights district is being sought by property holders in the section. Rapid growth warrants the installation of the gas facilities. The owners assert. Though inside the city limits, the addition has never been served with gas mains to supply the houses.

Attention was called to the situation when a petition with 14 signatures was received by the board of trustees of the Newport Beach township. The matter was referred to the gas company with the request from the city that the gas lines be installed.

Young Boys Win Hearts of Chief And Police Judge

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 23.—Three young salesmen, each about 14 years old, were brought into the police station here yesterday. They were charged with peddling without a license. All three were from Los Angeles.

"We didn't know we had to have a license, and besides we were only trying to sell this bread to get enough money to go to Catalina Island," they told Chief of Police Jack Tinsley.

Tinsley weakened, the boys renewed their pleas to "get off," and were finally not only released but were also given permission to dispose of the remainder of their wares.

Evidently believing in action, the three young men tackled Police Judge Harry Stewart immediately on receiving permission to sell their foodstuff. Stewart is still ready to admit that the boys are good salesmen.

"Please buy a loaf, judge," one of the young men asked. The judge refused. Persistently the boy kept at his task. Finally Stewart, tiring of the boy's persistent efforts, said:

"You had better not bother me this morning. I feel pretty rough today."

ORANGE COUNTY HARBOR ZONING TO BE STUDIED

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—Zoning of the harbor area of Newport bay is to be studied from the results at San Diego in a visit there early next month by members of the Orange County Harbor chamber of commerce.

The San Diego harbor commission has recently completed a zoning plan and it is believed that the measures adopted can be advantageously applied to Orange county harbor at Newport bay.

Segregation of the harbor area into zones aids in development for special purposes. By zoning, commercial and pleasure activities can be served without interference with each other.

H. A. Lake, chairman of the county harbor commission, will head the committee that is to make the investigation of the methods employed at San Diego.

Three features are being considered in the zoning plans at Newport bay. A large part of the harbor is intended to be developed for pleasure purposes while other sections, with federal aid, will be turned over to commercial activities and a possible government submarine base.

CROWDS CHEER BUCKAROOS AT FRONTIER DAYS

(By United Press)
CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 23.—Brain, brawn, then skill and the cunning of both man and beast, continued to clash again today at Frontier days here.

Out of the maze of the dust kicked up by the steers and rearing cayuses, new kings and queens were rising to sit upon thrones of the leather. Events were marred yesterday when a 60-foot section of the arena collapsed, piling 300 persons into a tangled mass. Mrs. Fred Lesack, Lincoln, Neb., Claude Nowlin, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Harry G. Hutchinson, Beaumont, Tex., received broken legs in the crash. A score more received minor injuries.

A few minutes after the accident, the crowd was calm again and 11,000 throats were cheering Mike Hastings, whose steer was thrown in 10.45 seconds, a record for the year. Lloyd Saunders, second in the event, took 14 seconds to convince his critic that proper frontier etiquette was to lie down and not kick around.

In the bucking event, Billy Wilkinson, atop Pilot, stood the pace for a short time and then took to more solid territory. King Tut, full of life, put Bob Askins to the ground and he took the count of eleven. Guy W. Cash, on Scorpion, was first. Donna Cowan was first in the cowgirls' relay race, one of the exciting events. Bonnie Gray was second and Mabel Strickland third.

Following the conversation, Fitzsimmons wired James Mason, Greb's manager, to meet him in conference some time next week. Fitzsimmons wants to stage the bout either September 19 or 26 in his Michigan City arena. The bout would go ten rounds with the heavyweight title at stake, he said.

Believe Bandits Covet Old Relics

GROVE, Okla., July 23.—Added to the thrill of digging in a cave to uncover evidence of a civilization thought to have existed 3000 years ago, J. B. Thorburn of the Oklahoma Historical society, and his expedition have had to keep a wary eye out for attempts on their lives by an organized band who covet the relics for their own profit.

The expedition is digging into what is known as Big Mouth cave, for evidence of a lost civilization. The cave consists of a number of dark, subterranean passages leading under a mountain. From the mouth of the caves trickles a tiny stream, washing out fragments of human skeletons, pottery, peculiar jewelry said to be the rarest ever found in America.

Funds for the exploration of the cave were appropriated by the last Oklahoma state legislature.

Archaeologists believe the cave was inhabited between 2000 and 3000 years ago by a weird species of the human race. An attempt is being made to find a passage-way between sections of the cave.

As members of the expedition dig in the stratum of a traveling deposit, it is not uncommon to see a huge boulder hurtling down the lonely mountain side toward them. Strange noises and shots in the night trouble their sleep. All of the expedition carry arms. An armed guard is kept over the unearthed treasures night and day.

It is believed marauding bands in this vicinity know the value of the treasures unearthed and are trying to scare the searchers away by harrassing them.

PET PEEVES? SANTA ANA POLICE HAVE THEIRS IN FORM OF YOUNG RUNAWAY

Perhaps every police station in the country has its own little pet peeve, in the form of some one person who gives the department more trouble than all the rest of the city put together, and it's true with the Santa Ana police, except that—

Santa Ana officers claim their "peeve" is bigger than that of other departments.

The Santa Ana department's chief worry comes in the form of a small boy, weighing considerably less than 100 pounds, and who has just turned 7 years of age.

"A week never goes by but that the department is called on to find that boy," declared Sgt. C. L. Neuschwanger, today, calling the boy by name.

On one occasion the youth wandered all the way to Long Beach before he was found, and several months ago he was picked up while walking the streets of Los Angeles.

"The boy is a habitual runaway and when the department is doing little else, it can always depend on having to run him down," Neuschwanger said.

Yesterday the police were called upon again to find the boy. His mother called the police and simply said that the boy was gone. "There was no need to give a description or anything else, just a notification, and the police knew whom to look for."

The lad was found an hour or so later, and this time was taken to the county detention home. It is the first time he has been held by police after having been found.

What disposition of his case will be made is not known, but officers would like to have something done that will keep the boy from running away.

A report on file at the station today was to the effect that the mother declared that she was glad that boy was taken to the home, because she "could not keep him off the street."

BOYS' CHORUS WILL SING IN S. A. THEATER

chorus of 50 boys, under the direction of Prof. H. E. K. Whitney, Los Angeles, will present a concert of sacred songs in Walker's theatre, Sunday morning, under auspices of the Men's Community Bible class. It was announced today by W. B. Martin, president of the class.

All men and women interested in hearing a program of songs by a group of highly-trained voices, are invited to attend the class meeting. Seats will be available for all. Martin declared. While no admission will be charged, a free-will offering will be taken. The money is to be used to help defray the expenses of a group of 1000 boys Professor Whitney plans to take on a tour of the United States, to advertise the world's fair in Portland next year, and the Pacific coast in general.

Included on the program will be numbers by a trio, consisting of two cornets and a trombone. Professor Whitney has nearly 3000 boys in training in various parts of the state and devotes practically all his time to vocal instruction, Martin explained.

Skinny Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back

My dear Friends:

After an attack of Flu I was thin, rundown and weak. I had a yellow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cerro Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.

Loses Thumb But Has One to Spare

SANTA ROSA, Calif., July 23.—Although O. Peterson, planing mill worker, lost a thumb on his right hand in a recent accident here, he still has two thumbs.

The reason is he was born with three thumbs, and the accident left him normally equipped. After a visit to the surgeon to get the wound trimmed up, Peterson expressed himself as satisfied.

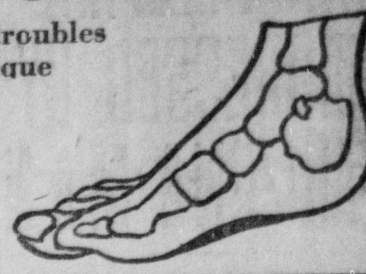

"I always meant to have it taken off some day, anyway," he declared.

KIWANIS ARE ADDRESSED BY ARIZONA MAN

Kiwanis clubs of the United States and Canada were pledged to their best efforts in the suppression of "questionable" publications, obscene literature and suggestive plays and motion pictures by resolutions adopted at the recent convention in St. Paul of Kiwanis International, according to a report on the convention made yesterday by H. G. Nelson, who, with F. T. Smith, comprised the delegation from the Santa Ana club.

Resolutions also were adopted pledging the clubs to action along the prevention lines, favoring legislation prohibiting issuance of tax exempt securities and against organization of clubs in Mexico, Nelson said.

Because of limited time, Nelson gave only some of the highlights of conference and convention activities, and will continue making reports at various points of the club until he has presented most of the important matters.

Herbert Davis was program chairman yesterday, his colleague on the committee being Hugh Lowe.

Handicaps of Name
E. F. Drake, legal advisor of the chamber of commerce and a director of the Kiwanis principal speaker, "Recent developments in the Salt River Valley" was the subject of his address. In its development, he compared the Salt River valley with the Imperial valley, and pointed out handicaps of Phoenix and Salt River valley by reason of the name, compared with the advantages of the name Imperial valley. Products also were compared, with Salt River valley leading.

Stressing the importance of the Roosevelt dam in storing water for irrigation in the valley, and commenting on projects for developing hydro-electric power by construction of two dams lower down the valley, Drake predicted that the time would come when land owners in the district would be water from the dam would be receiving dividends from earnings of power plants.

Predicts Free Water
He also predicted that such owners would get their water free, in addition to the dividends. While he did not mention the point, his statement gave strong emphasis to possibilities of the Boulder dam project.

The attorney directed attention to the large bodies of agricultural land available under irrigation projects, and appealed for a closer co-operation between California and Arizona. Pointing out that many persons come to California who do not have sufficient capital to procure farm lands here, the speaker suggested that co-operation be given to the extent of recommending Arizona, and particularly the Salt River valley district, to such persons.

Miss Pope to Ask Widow's Share of McClintock Estate

CHICAGO, July 23.—Miss Isabelle Pope, who was to have married Billy McClintock, will file suit to obtain a widow's share of the McClintock millions within a few days, it is reported here.

The bride-to-be has been will base her action on the claim that she had a contract to marry Billy and that Mr. and Mrs. William Darling Shepherd prevented him from keeping the contract.

Shepherd, McClintock's foster father, recently was acquitted on charges of murdering the youth.

Pinchot didn't even concede that the administration "meant well." He said Secretary Mellon didn't want to enforce the law.

Why not?—inquired some. Whereupon Pinchot pointed to the secretary's distillery interests.

Analyze the inuendo in this explanation and it becomes evident it's the kind of thing a public man particularly a very high and mighty one, like Mellon—is apt to put in the absolutely unforgivable class.

After Pinchot had kept his campaign up for a while it came the organization's turn to come. He denied him a place in the Pennsylvania delegation to the last Republican national convention.

It's doubtful if a state governor ever got such a jolt before—his own party convention—but it went to illustrate the organization's intense bitterness toward the Pennsylvania executive.

Now, in a recent speech at Portland, Ore., Pinchot again charges that Secretary Mellon, "for the better part of a generation a whiskey distiller and distributor," was "refused to carry out the duties of his office."

But this time he implies a new accusation. The administration is engaged at present in a tremendous demonstration in force against prohibition law violation.

Pinchot is a mighty efficient knock-down-and-drag-out political fighter and not a very safe man to bet against, but in the coming senatorial struggle in Pennsylvania he assuredly is going to have a chance to extend himself.

SUGAR FACTORY TO START WORK DURING AUGUST

Operations at the plant of the Holly Sugar corporation, of Santa Ana, will begin before the middle of August, according to a statement made today by C. A. Johnson, manager of the company.

Recent droughts have cut down the sugar beet acreage considerably and, although the crop to be shipped to the factory this year will be smaller than that handled a year ago, a fair-sized tonnage will be received at the plant, Johnson said.

Workers of the company now are busy estimating the crop. Testing of the beets has been going on for the last few weeks. As soon as this work is completed, a definite date for beginning work at the plant will be fixed.

More than 200 persons were employed by the firm last year and approximately the same number will be used again this year, according to the manager. Most of the beets will come from the vicinity of Santa Ana.

European Naval Forces In Baltic

BERLIN, July 23.—Never since the end of the war has the Baltic seen such a display of naval forces as during this summer. A British squadron is visiting the Estonian and Latvian ports, its itinerary followed with misgivings by the Russian government, which regards the visit as a rehearsal for warlike measures.

The Russians themselves will welcome Italian destroyers in Leningrad. Further, a Russian fleet has left Kronstadt for the first time since the overthrow of the old regime, for an extended cruise in the Baltic.

The Russian units are expected to pay a visit to the Germans in Kiel and they will probably meet part of the Swedish fleet. Finally, Germany's Denmark's and Poland's navies also will hit the briny to make various calls.

However, with the exception of the British men-o-war, the battleships, cruisers and destroyers are for the most part obsolete vessels of which one modern dreadnaught would make short shrift. But even on this small scale, these naval maneuvers are anything but a sign of returning peace in Europe.

MEXICO REGRETFUL
WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Mexican government in a note has expressed its regret to this government for the recent shooting of American Vice Consul Harold G. Bretherton, at Agua Calientes, the state department announces.

Five Teachers Ask Retirement After 50 Years

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—Five teachers, each of whom has taught for more than 50 years continuously in San Francisco schools, have applied to the state board of education for retirement under the state pension act. Total service of the five was 266 years. One, Miss Augusta Roberts, has a record of 58 years, the longest ever reported to the state board.

CZARINA'S ROYAL ROBES ARE SOLD

MOSCOW, July 23.—Luxurious Japanese morning gowns, gifts of the mikado of Japan to the former Empress Alexandra, brought high prices at the sale of the effects of the late czar and zarina in Leningrad. These were only some of the rare robes to which the public had access in its bidding.

Velvet gowns made from rich material sent by Lyons manufacturers were offered alongside the exquisite lingerie of Olga, daughter of the czar, and rare capes and other valued trousseau articles—fit to grace royalty.

Wonderful rugs from the winter palace and elsewhere with all the artistry of the east and near east are yet to be offered.

Lash Prisoners, Then Pour Salt In Raw Wounds

MONTREAL, July 23.—Three men moaned on their cots in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary here after the first installment of 10 lashes out of a 30-lash penalty of the ancient punishment—cat-of-nine-tails.

Their backs were raw from the first lashes, followed by an application of salt and they writhed, unable to lie in a normal position.

The three are James Miller, William Martin and Henry Dumont, of this city—the first two robbers, the other assailant of a woman.

Two more installments of the "cat" will be added before the men go free.

Are Earthquakes Workman's Risk?

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—The state industrial accident commission has received notice here that it will be called upon to rule whether an earthquake is a "workman's risk." The ruling was asked in the case of an insurance company which refused to pay claims of four employees of the Arlington hotel, Santa Barbara, for compensation for injuries from falling walls when that city recently was shaken by an earthquake.

INVITE SANTA ANA GIRLS IN BATHING REVUE

A bathing girl pageant, which Santa Ana girls are invited to enter, will be held in Long Beach, August 9, under auspices of the Long Beach Amusement league, according to announcement made today by Jack Magee, business manager of the league.

Girls entering the revue will have equal chances to win a prize, Magee declared. The judges will know the entries by number only, he said.

The most beautiful girl appearing in the pageant will be given the title of "Miss Southern California" and will be afforded an opportunity to enter motion pictures, according to the Long Beach man. The first prize winner will be awarded $500. There will be nine other prizes, totaling $500.

Magee declared that girls of Santa Ana and Orange county who desire to participate in the pageant should forward names, addresses and photographs to him at 140 West Pike, Long Beach.

Flapper Bandit Beats Girl to Unconsciousness

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—The "deadly" female figured in a bold daylight robbery here yesterday in which Miss Florence May, 25, clerk in a piano store, was beaten into unconsciousness.

Miss May refused to turn over any money to a man bandit and his companion, a bobbed-haired girl. The man then struck her with the end of a rope with which they had bound her.

Dissatisfied with the mildness of the punishment, the girl seized the rope and beat Miss May until she lost consciousness.

Only lost secured by the pair was a revolver.

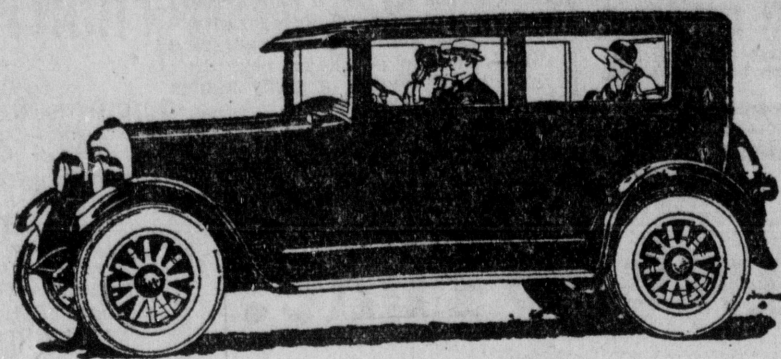

Change Is Made In Paper Management

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—The Los Angeles Express has announced that Guy C. Earl Jr., and Edward A. Dickson had acquired the interests of F. W. Kellogg in that newspaper. Earl becomes president of the company, while Dickson continues as editor.

At the same time, Kellogg took over control of 14 suburban papers formerly controlled by Kellogg and Dickson.

The present plan of circulating the Express with each of the suburban papers will continue, it was announced.

How this One-Profit Coach is built by Studebaker on the sturdy STANDARD SIX CHASSIS

SUPERFICIALLY other coaches may resemble this Studebaker Standard Six, but the resemblance will not stand analysis.

Only two cars are made on a one-profit basis—Ford in the lowest price field and Studebaker in the fine car field. Only in these two cases are all bodies, engines, clutches, gear-sets, springs, differentials, steering gear and axles designed, engineered and manufactured by one company.

Contrast this with the average car, where the extra profits of many outside parts and body makers must be included in the purchase price.

These profits are part of the production cost of the car—the same as the steel and wood of the body. They do not buy materials nor workmanship—they do not make any car one whit better.

Studebaker has achieved one-profit manufacture through years of far-sighted management and through sacrifice on the part of stockholders. Earnings which might have been distributed have been retained in the business to build one of the largest gray iron foundries in the world, to erect stamping mills, forges, etc., to purchase the finest labor-saving machinery, to construct enormous body-building plants.

As a result, resources totaling one hundred million dollars are concentrated upon the production of one-profit automobiles such as this Standard Six Coach.

What does it mean to you?

To you, as an automobile buyer, this means:

1. A Lower Price.

2. A Better Car.

A LOWER PRICE, because Studebaker does not need to pile its profit upon the profits of outside parts manufacturers and body builders.

A BETTER CAR, because it is a thoroughly coordinated, harmonious unit. Every part designed,

$1535

Come in and see how easy it is to buy one of these cars. Convenient terms will be arranged.

engineered and manufactured under one management, to work more efficiently with every other part.

A better car because Studebaker can afford to use finer upholstery, better steel, higher grades of lumber, more painstaking workmanship in hundreds of unseen places.

Scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation are built into every Studebaker. When the car which looked like an equal value while it was new, is breaking up, the Studebaker is breaking in.

That is why in Arizona—out where desert heat and rugged mountain trails test automobiles to the utmost—Studebaker sells double its normal portion of cars. Every county in Arizona which has bought an automobile for its sheriff has bought a Studebaker.

This coach is not a one year car. As a splendid example of the facts stated above, we offer the Standard Six Coach. To appreciate this car you must see it and ride in it. We urge you to do so immediately. It is called a coach, but is in reality a roomy five-passenger coupe.

It is a car that will give you faithful economical service. It is built to yield dependable, comfortable transportation for years and years.

Buy now—no more "yearly models"

This is the time of the year when men have hesitated to purchase an automobile, fearing that the car they bought in July would be made obsolete artificially by the announcement of new yearly models in August or September. Studebaker has discontinued the custom of presenting yearly models. Instead, Studebakers will be kept up to the minute in body styles and chassis design regardless of the calendar.

Come in NOW—and see this sturdy, dependable, one-profit Coach.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, July 23.—If Gifford Pinchot is elected to the U. S. senate next year, it will be over the bodies of all Coolidge administration supporters in general, of course including the body of Senator George Wharton Pepper, whose seat Pinchot wants to take away from him, and over the body of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon in particular.

Out of Pennsylvania's entire estimated population July 1, 1925, of 9,317,647, official census figures, it's doubtful if there's one, regardless of age, race, creed or politics whom the national administration wouldn't support for the senate in preference to Pinchot.

Of course the administration won't have to make any such choice. It will support Pepper. Anybody, however, in a pinch, but Pinchot.

Pinchot's Republicanism, strongly flavored as it is with insincerity, isn't liked, at best, by "regulars." That, however, isn't what counts so heavily against him with the administration—especially Secretary Mellon.

The administration would stand for Brookhart, Frazier, Shipstead, Wheeler, would have stood for La Follette or Ladd, rather than Pinchot.

The administration's and especially Mellon's feeling against Pinchot is personal. It gnaws and grips and keeps the administration awake nights thinking about it.

When one considers how tremendously big a man Secretary Mellon is in the present administration, what weight his word carries . . . and the things Pinchot has said about him . . . incidentally landing some ringing cracks over his head, upon the presidential dome itself . . . and when one considers that Pinchot is trying to get into the senate from Mellon's own state . . . and at the expense of Senator Pepper, whom the administration likes pretty well . . .

When one considers all this, one understands why the idea of Pinchot's senatorial aspirations makes the administration froth so.

Secretary Mellon didn't want Pinchot for governor of Pennsylvania in the first place. The Republican state organization fought him but he won.

This angered the organization to begin with and Pinchot angered it worse later.

Then he began making trouble for the national administration by complaints of federal prohibition non-enforcement. This was injurious and Pinchot added insult to it. President Coolidge explained that the national administration was doing its best and it was up to the state governors, including Pinchot, to help some. To the statement that the national administration

CITRUS PLANT
PLANNED HERE BY WHITTIER SPECIALISTS

California Citrus Pectin Company Is Now Seeking Suitable Location

FACTORY, LAND TO INVOLVE $14,000

Construction Operations
Scheduled to Commence
In Near Future

Establishment of a factory for the manufacture of pectic and other by-products of cull fruits is planned in Santa Ana by the California Citrus Pectin company, now located in Whittier. It was announced today by Harry Samuel, industrial secretary of the local chamber of commerce.

The firm is seeking a two and a half acre site and expects to start building operations when a suitable tract is secured, it is understood. A three-story structure 50 by 75 feet in size is contemplated.
It will be of steel and concrete construction.

The plant will give employment to between 25 and 35 persons. Of this number, about one-third will be skilled workers. The factory will be in operation throughout the year. The land and building will represent an expenditure of approximately $14,000, it is estimated.

The firm has been located in Whittier for the last three years.
The Whittier establishment will be abandoned and all machinery moved here, it is announced.

In addition to pectin the company expects to make orange juice, citric acid and lemon oil. Nationwide distribution has already been established for pectin, it is stated.

Rudolph Best, general manager and treasurer of the firm, formerly was vice president, treasurer and general manager of the Fort Scott Sugar and Sorghum Syrup company, Fort Scott, Kans. Later he was in charge of the Fort Smith, Ark., sorghum plant of the Best-Clymer company, St. Louis.

Pectin is a constituent of many fruits. It is found in the peel of oranges, grapefruit, in apples, berries, grapes, pears, cherries, etc. The greener the fruit, the more pectin, it is said. The chief users of pectin are jelly, jam, biscuit and candy manufacturers.

"Our pectin is made by the shortest process known and is fully covered by patents," said Best today. "Lemons and oranges are used and these fruits are available the year round. The process, while simple, is of a basic nature.

"We expect to operate our plant throughout the year, giving employment to between 25 and 35 persons. Being situated in the heart of the citrus region, Santa Ana is an ideal location for a plant of this nature."

Who's Who in Community Development

We have with us today a native son of Santa Ana who has probably installed more roofs than any other man in Orange county. He is Bill Kelly, son of Captain Kelly, retired, of Newport Beach. He is a brother of D. N. Kelly, of this city.

He attended the local schools as a boy in Victoria, B. C., he attended Province college. Until eight years ago, he followed ranching in this county. He then entered the roofing business and has engaged in this business ever since, having roofed many of the largest buildings in Orange county. Including the new county jail, the Y.
M. C. A., Walker's theater, the First National bank, the Chapman theater, Fullerton, and the Fullerton high school, which is said to have the largest roof in the county.

Kelly employs on an average of 10 to 12 men and has one of the most active businesses in the county, owing to the fact that he roofs both new and old buildings.

WIRE PLANT MAILED
$30,000 IN CHECKS

ORANGE, July 23.—Checks totaling $30,000 were mailed yesterday to stockholders by the California Wire and Cable company. This marks the seventh semi-annual dividend to be declared by the firm since its organization three years ago.

The wire factory has sufficient orders on file to run continuously for the next two months, it is said.
One of the largest recent orders was received by the factory last week, when the Southern California Edison company contracted for a million pounds of wire and cable, to be delivered within the next four months.

The order, when made up, will fill 20 carloads, representing $200,000 in returns to the factory.

REMODELING OF OLD BUILDING IS COMPLETED

All Rooms In Mercereau Structure Are Rented;
Cost Totals $10,000

Finishing touches are now being placed on the building at the southwest corner of Sycamore and Fifth streets, which has been reconstructed at a cost of approximately $10,000. The owner is L. D. Mercereau, also owner of the Ramona building across the street, as well as other property in Santa Ana.

The original structure was erected about 25 years ago. Mer-cereau has owned the property since 1912. It is considered one of the most valuable corners in Santa Ana.

As a result of the skillful use of brick, wood and mortar, the Mercereau structure has been made into one of the most attractive in Orange county. It occupies ground space 100 by 125 feet and is one story in height.
There is approximately 10,500 square feet of floor space in the building.

Alterations were commenced
May 1, under direction of the owner. The building consists of five rooms on Sycamore street and four on Fifth street.

Mercereau has had no difficulty in renting the rooms. As a matter of fact, he could have rented at least five more rooms, he declares.

The room next to the alley, on the Sycamore side, has been taken over by W. W. Ward, who will install a magazine, tobacco and soft drink business there. Ward formerly was located at 221 West Fourth street.

To the north of Ward, will be a branch of the Whitefield studio, of Fullerton. The photographic establishment will be in operation about August 1.

Hornaday's store, second hand goods, is located next door to this room. The firm has remained in the building during the remodeling.

Neil Beisel, leather goods, harness and trunks, has secured the next room. Beisel at present is located at 305 West Fourth street.
He expects to remove to his new location some time next week.

In addition to the room on Sycamore street, he also will have one on Fifth street.

The Santa Ana Building and Loan association, has already removed to its new location in the corner room. The firm formerly was situated at 111 West Third street. The association began business in its new home Monday.

Next to the building and loan office, on the Fifth street side, will be the office of George Bond & Co., bonds. The firm has established its headquarters in this location.

The two rooms adjoining the bond firm will be used by the Public library as quarters for the juvenile department. The main library is so crowded that additional room was necessary, it was stated at the library.

Beisel's Fifth street entrance will be next door to the library rooms and adjoining his room will be the Pacific Finance corporation's headquarters. E. A.
Mitchell will be in charge of the local branch.

FINISH WORK ON MERCEREAU BUILDING

Above is shown a portion of the remodeled structure at the southwest corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets. All of the rooms have been rented.

BELIEVE MINE AT BEACH WILL FLOW OIL SOON

The Newport Petroleum company's oil mine located on the bluffs overlooking Newport bay, will go on production next week.
J. E. Frost, Newport Beach, a heavy stockholder in the concern, declared today.

The "well" has been idle for several weeks, pending the arrival of pumping machinery, which is now being installed. The oil will be heated before an attempt is made to pump it to the top. Tanks to hold the oil will be constructed within a short time.

The shaft is 502 feet deep. It is heavily boarded all the way.
The hole is 6 by 6 feet in width.
The shaft is on a 45-degree angle.

Uncover Pool of Oil Digging was stopped several weeks ago when the picks of workmen uncovered a pool of oil. The men saved themselves from injury or death by hastily climbing the ladder from the bottom to the top of the mine.

The Newport company's mine is located on a 250-acre lease. A regulation oil well was started more than five years ago, but due to the difficulty of getting the heavy oil which underlies that section to the top, the original well was not a success. Tom Sharkey, superintendent for the company, finally hit upon the plan of sinking a regular mine shaft. It has been his contention that, if the oil is heated, it can be pumped to the surface without difficulty.

Other Shafts Planned
Should the company be successful in getting the oil to the surface in sufficient quantities to make it a paying proposition, said Frost, said.

Sharkey has been in the north for the last two weeks on the business connected with the company, but is expected back this week,
Frost asserted.

The unique project has attracted attention of oil men all over a wide area. Should the mine prove as successful as the officials believe, other oil firms that are confronted with the task of getting heavy oil to the surface will adopt the shaft plan, it is believed.

$45,000 Paid for 13-Acre Valencia
Grove by S. A. Man

C. W. Longmire, Santa Ana real estate man and former rancher, has purchased the 13-acre orange grove located at East North street and Rio Vista avenue, three miles north of Anaheim, for a reported consideration of $45,000. The seller is John Stirrat.

The grove is set to nine-year-old valencias. A well 366 feet deep, with a capacity of 100 inches of water, is situated on the ranch.
The attractive residence on the property already has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Longmire and their son.

Longmire has lived in California 37 years. A large portion of the time he was manager of a citrus ranch near San Bernardino.

Stirrat, who is living temporarily at 611 North Claudia street, Anaheim, said today that his plans for the future are uncertain.

also will be erected.

Five thousand dollars will be

SANTA ANA MAN
LOW BIDDER ON GLENDALE JOB

B. R. Ford, prominent local contractor, was low bidder on a public contract in Glendale and undoubtedly will be awarded the job, it was learned today.

Ford's bid was $344,000, nearly $7000 lower than his nearest competitor. Twenty-five contracting firms from every section of the Southland entered bids.

Paving, sewers and water mains are involved in the project, work on which is scheduled to start next month.

In case the Santa Ana man is awarded the contract, and it is assumed that he will secure it, a number of local men will be employed on the job, it is stated.

Ford estimates that the work required will take approximately six months to complete. The contract will be awarded next week.

REAL ESTATE LAW
IN EFFECT FRIDAY

The amendment to the state real estate law, which provides that all solicitors must have licenses and reduce the penalty for selling property without a license from a felony to a misdemeanor, goes into effect Friday.

The amendment was passed by the state legislature last May, at the suggestion of the California realtors.

Freeman H. Bloodgood, Santa Ana, chairman of the legislative committee of the California Real Estate association, today called attention to the fact that the workmen's compensation law, which also goes into effect Friday, provides that employers who do not take out insurance for their employes or do not post a bond, are liable to a fine of $500. Realty brokers employing office help or salesmen are subject to the law, Bloodgood declared.

Development of County Harbor
Urged by Expert

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.— Development of Newport bay will be realized regardless of the growth of Los Angeles harbor, declared Charles M. Spoffard of the Boston engineering firm of Fay, Spoffard and Thorndike, in a tour yesterday of the harbor here.
"You have a good opportunity here and you need not worry about the growth of Los Angeles and its harbor," Spoffard said. "They will be a help in the development of Newport bay and the Los Angeles people should aid in your efforts."
Spoffard inspected the entrance and made a trip into the upper bay. This he said contained great possibilities for a port.
The engineer came to the Pacific coast recently to study the results of the earthquake at Santa Barbara and visit harbor projects.
In the party that went with him were Harry Welch, H. A. Lake, J. P. Greeley and H. L. Sherman.

NEED HERE FOR GOOD PARK IS POINTED OUT
BY PURINTON

Bond Issue Would Pass If Importance Explained to Citizens, Trustee Thinks

SEES INCREASE IN PROPERTY VALUES

Official Believes Luncheon Clubs and Other Bodies Should Back Project

A bond issue for the purpose of establishing a splendid, well equipped park in Santa Ana was advocated today by Frank L. Purinton, city trustee. The increase in property values as a result of the park would more than repay taxpayers for their expenditure, Purinton believes.

If all of the civic organizations in the community would get behind a park project and the citizens were educated to the necessity for the park, a bond issue would undoubtedly carry, the trustee thinks.

"As we were returning from Lake Arrowhead last Sunday afternoon, we stopped at Fairmont park in Riverside for a cool dip in the pool and a rest in the shade," said Purinton today. "As there were hundreds of people lounging around on the grass there in the shade, it impressed me more fully than ever on my mind the great need that Santa Ana has for a similar park. Such a park is a great asset to any city."

"I feel that if all the luncheon clubs and civic organizations of our town would put their shoulders to the wheel and be determined to sell the idea and importance of parks and playgrounds to our taxpayers, that we might be able to put over a bond issue here that would equip our city with a splendid park. I am of the firm belief that the advance in property values which would result would more than repay the taxpayers for their expenditure."

However, if a bond issue for a park is to pass, the citizens must get out and work for it, Purinton declares. There is an element here that, should it work as hard along constructive lines as it does along destructive lines, lamps would shine much brighter in the future, the trustee says.

"This class is always at the poles ready to do its bit to defeat any improvement that may be brought before the people, while so many of the progressive people are apt to be indifferent in such matters and not go to the poles and vote," Purinton said. "I think that every citizen should take a stand one way or the other on such matters."

When you buy a roof, there are a lot of things you have to do for your own protection. In the first place, simply because you have a guarantee, you are not assured of a tight roof, as all of the guarantees in the world will not keep you dry if the roof is bad. The usual guarantee is so full of holes that it looks like a sieve. Very few roofing guarantees can be enforced if the maker does not want to make good. The first job you will have is to find the man who signed the guarantee. The second job will be to get him to fix the leak or leaks. Many men go into the roofing business, but few stick. If you would take the last few city directories you would find many firms listed as "ROOFERS." A whole lot of them are gone now. We wonder how the folks feel that are holding guarantees made by those who have gone forever.

The proper way to buy a roof is to call in an established, reliable contractor that will be here, and give him the job. Don't try to buy the cheapest roof you can get, because a bargain roof is never any good. A roof of a certain type is worth just so much money. If you pay less for it, someone is going to be "skinned." Guess who it will be.

Drive a Hobby Horse

Certainly! Ride or drive a hobby horse! Let who will say him "neigh!" In the mad mix to snatch a few dollars away from some one and pile
'em up in a stack somewhere, a hobby horse saves our national and individual sanity. And they all have hobby horses. Even the President! Some appear in public, gaily caparisoned. Some ride or drive them through the dark chambers of their wishes, their dreams.

A real hobby horse stays by and sometimes is the fountain head of a great stable of activities. If you knew the story of the automobile tire, you'd guess a hobby horse rode rough shod into that idea several times. At any rate, the Diamond has been made so nearly "right" that we personally guarantee them.

To Construct New Theater Building

SAN BERNARDINO, July 23.—A half million dollar movie theater is to be erected this summer in San Bernardino.

Site for the film palace already has been purchased, opposite the new $450,000 county courthouse, which is in process of construction.

The theater is being built by the Meyer Picture Palace corporation, of Los Angeles.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

A. Will you please advise me how to sound-proof the partition between a double bungalow? The building was built some time ago. The walls are papered.

A. There are several methods of sound-proofing partition walls that will give satisfactory results. You have not stated the construction of the walls, therefore we assume them to be plastered. One method is to apply standard insulating lumber, which comes in boards four feet wide and lengths from eight to 12 feet, over each side of the partition and finish to match the other walls of the room. This method, we have been informed, is very satisfactory. Another method, which is universally used, is to apply a one by two inch nailing strip over the present wall, placed directly over the studs under the plaster, which deadening nailing strip directly over the first, using nails that will not penetrate the studs and apply lath and plaster.

Q. I have completed a home on which I borrowed $3600 to complete paying the contractor. I have agreed to repay the loan in monthly installments of $50 each, including interest at 8 percent. How long will it take me to retire the mortgage?

A. It will take eight years, two months and ten days to pay off the mortgage.

Q. Will you advise me how many hours are required for a carpenter to place 1000 feet board measure of two by four inch studs and two by six inch joists?

A. The time required to place 1000 feet board measure of studs or joists depends entirely upon the workman on the job, and other conditions affecting the particular job. Some contractors, however, figure that 35 hours are required for placing this class of lumber. The only way to obtain this information, with any degree of accuracy, is to keep an accurate check on various jobs with the same workmen, and then it is merely an estimate, and should be used only as such.

Q. Will you please define the term "grounds" as used when reference is made to plastering a room?

A. "Grounds" are strips of wood used for the purpose of assisting the plasterer in making a straight wall and in giving a place to which the finish of the room may be nailed. "Grounds" are used around window and door openings and the floor, in order that the plasterers may make a uniform thickness and a true wall.

Q. How much drier should be added to paint to give satisfactory results?

A. Not more than 10 percent by volume of any liquid drier should be added to oil. Excess drier makes the paint less durable.

Q. Will you please advise me what size panels are suitable for an average size room?

A. Panel strips may be had or made in a great variety of patterns. In stock they are usually plain, one-quarter inch and one-eighth inch and should not be less than four-sixteenths by one and one-half inches; three-eighths by two inches is better.

Raymond Griffith and Betty Compson in a scene from "Paths to Paradise," picture beginning three-day engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

AT WALKER'S

Marshall Neilan, famous director of light comedy and whimsical stories of real life, has returned to his favorite type of story in "The Sporting Venus," his latest production, which comes to Walker's tonight.

After a successful experiment with screen tragedy in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," Neilan returns to delicate comedy and breezy situations of his own concoction in this production, and the result promises excellent entertainment.

"The Sporting Venus" is a story by Gerald Beaumont, with its locale in Scotland, England and France. Neilan, with his entire company, went abroad and shot half of the picture in the actual settings, then returned to the studio to film the interiors.

Blanche Sweet attempts a new type of role for her in which there is much subtle comedy, and it is a distinct change from the characters she played in "Tess," "Anna Christie" and other pictures.

Ronald Colman plays opposite Miss Sweet as a young Scottish doctor, and Lew Cody has a picturesque role as an impoverished count whose creditors force him to marry for money.

AT THE YOST
Arthur Loeb, master diver, will be one of the features of the vaudeville at the Yost theater tonight, tomorrow and Saturday.

Loeb, who was one of the divers employed after the steamer Eastland turned turtle at its Chicago dock, taking hundreds of men, women and children along with it to the bottom of the Chicago river, tells of his experience at that disaster. According to him, however, it would be impossible to tell or print publicly a great many details of the sinking of that boat and the experiences of the divers who brought up the bodies.

When the P-4, one of Uncle Sam's ships, went to the bottom at Honolulu, Loeb was called upon to search for bodies, bringing up a number, and today he wears a ring of intricate design, that was picked up from the ocean's floor.

The diver has just returned from China and Japan, working in the latter country salvaging from vessels sunk during the earthquake. He is on his way to France, where he will undergo an operation for a broken blood vessel, American surgeons, notably those at the Mayo brothers and Johns Hopkins institute, refusing to attempt to correct it. After the operation, he will proceed to England, there to join a number of other divers in raising vessels sunk during the World War.

An octopus killed by Loeb after a long struggle is on display in Kelley's drug store window. The fish measures 17 feet across, and it was only after stabbing it a number of times that it finally succumbed and was brought to the surface.

AT THE WEST END
Local picture playgoers are going to see a pleasing and entertaining society drama, decidedly out of the ordinary run, in "The Man Without a Heart," which opens at the West End tonight.

The picture deals with the novel situation, which develops when a brother tries to save his sister's happiness by kidnapping the girl, whom he believes is about to elope with her husband. An intriguing romance ensues, which comes to a climax in a lonely mountain hut, where the gallant kidnaper and his fair victim have taken refuge.

Heading the cast is Kenneth Harlan, always a favorite with picture-goers and one of the most popular "heroes" of the screen.

Playing opposite Harlan is the equally popular Jane Novak.

AT THE YOST
"We got into a cold slaw, cut the grape-vine, raked the general and beat it in a heap."

A complicated sentence but in the vernacular of crooks it actually means something according to Raymond Griffith.

In his latest production, "Paths to Paradise," Griffith plays the part of a crook who raids one of San Francisco's notorious underworld joints and escapes with several thousand dollars worth of watches and rings. Prior to his starting work in the production, Griffith spent several months studying the habits of crooks and thieves and acquired an exceptionally large vocabulary of underworld slang.

Co-featured with Griffith in "Paths to Paradise" is Betty Compson. The story, directed by Clarence Badger, is a screen version of Paul Armstrong's play, "The Heart of a Thief"—a roaring comedy gem with the funniest chase scene ever seen in pictures.

The picture opens a run of three days at the Yost theater tonight.

LAGUNA BEACH CHAMBER HOME IS DEDICATED

LAGUNA BEACH, July 23.—

Warnings against permitting Laguna Beach "to be spoiled by a Pike" were issued last night by the Rev. Percy W. Clarkson, rector of the Cathedral Chapel of St. Francis-Bay-Sea, in his oration at the dedication of the new chamber of commerce building.

The Rev. Mr. Clarkson said that the beautiful building had been designed by a member of the Laguna Beach artists' colony, Frank W. Cuprien, the noted marine painter, and proved that artists could be practical. He paid high tribute to Mr. Cuprien as a citizen.

H. H. Henshaw, chairman of the building committee of the chamber of commerce, opened the exercises by calling upon Miss Eugenia Oliver to lead in the singing of "America." Miss Josephine Hills played a violin obligato.

Mr. Henshaw then turned the keys over to H. G. Heisler, president of the chamber of commerce, on behalf of the building committee, the other members being Frank W. Cuprien, Mrs. H. R. Macbeth, Frank B. Chapman, James B. Neel and A. B. Marshall. Mr. Henshaw then introduced Mr. Heisler as the chairman of the evening.

Built On Chamber's Property
After a rising vote of thanks to the building committee, Mr. Heisler introduced H. A. Lake, president of the Associated Chamber of Commerce of Orange county. It had been announced that the building was the only one in Orange county built upon property owned also by the chamber of commerce.

"This building is the result of community spirit," said Mr. Lake. "It is the spirit that builds towns, counties and state. Without it there is no real progress."

Mr. Lake said that Orange county was particularly happy in having communities that worked together for the good of the whole county. He pointed out three great projects that concerned the county and must be fought for by the county as a whole—conservation of the Santa Ana river water, building the county harbor and the Boulder dam project.

The Rev. Father B. C. Tritz, pastor of the Catholic church, declared that the people should keep in mind the necessity of constant boosting of Laguna Beach.

"You cannot be too enthusiastic in praising the natural beauty of Laguna Beach and its wonderful attractions," said Father Tritz. "Any attempt at exaggeration would fall below the reality."

Design Tells of Plans

Frank W. Cuprien, the designer of the building, also is a director of the chamber of commerce. He told how on the morning of the day that sketches were to be submitted to the directors for approval, he had pictured in his mind just how he thought the building should look. He made a hurried sketch and that evening after all of the other sketches had been shown he submitted his. It was accepted instantly. Every detail of the vision he had that morning has been carried out with the exception of a cypress tree which is being cared for at a Santa Ana nursery until the water question is settled in Laguna Beach. He gave credit to J. C. Benson for making the blue prints from his sketch and the H. H. Henshaw for the success of the whole project. Mr. Henshaw gave up his own business and devoted all of his time to the building.

AT THE WEST END

Several players who contributed to past screen successes of Charles Chaplin support the famous comedian in "The Pilgrim," which is coming to the West End tonight.

They are Edna Purviance, again the comedian's leading lady; his brother, Sydney Chaplin; Mack Swain, "Chuck" Reiser, Loyal Underwood, Tom Murray and Phyllis Allen. Others who appear in support of the star are Kitty Bradbury, Dinkey Dean and Mae Wells.

Mr. Heisler called attention to the fact that Mr. Cuprien is working on a painting for the chamber of commerce, which is to be the artist's gift. Mrs. Catherine Strode Blakely, assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce and a member of the art colony, also was thanked for the gift of a painting.

Gives Credit to Nathan Brooks
Joe Skidmore gave credit to Nathan Brooks for having first had the vision of the future city of Laguna Beach. He said that he himself, in his work of city building, was merely carrying out a plan dictated by Mr. Brooks.

Edward M. DeAhna, secretary of the chamber of commerce, declared the building a monument to community spirit and praised Mr. Henshaw.

Art Olier, executive secretary of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, made a plea for a closer relationship between the two communities, declaring they could be of mutual benefit. He thanked Messrs. Henshaw and Cuprien for assisting at the dedication of the Santa Ana building.

Before introducing the Rev. Mr. Clarkson as the speaker of the evening, Chairman Heisler invited all of the local organization to hold their business meeting in the new building.

EVENING SALUTATION

Strength of character is not mere strength of feeling—it is the resolute restraint of strong feeling. It is unyielding resistance to whatever would disconcert us from without or unsettle us from within—Charles Dickens.

SHOULD MATCH THE STATE

If there is any way that it can be done, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties by all means should match the $50,000 appropriation made by the state for water surveys of and similar preliminary conservation work along the Santa Ana river. The boards of supervisors of the three counties are to meet in Riverside August 2 for the purpose of discussing, and reaching an agreement as to when and how the state's appropriation will be met with $50,000 from the three counties.

Hitherto, while realizing the importance of the conservation work, the boards of supervisors of San Bernardino and Riverside counties have been unable to apportion as much money annually to the work as Orange county would have liked. Conditions in the two counties have been such that it was not advisable to add to the county's tax burden. A contribution of $5,000 annually from each county has been the usual sum. This money has been used to very great advantage.

The need for action in conserving the waters of the Santa Ana river has become more apparent year by year, and it now appears to be imperative. The growth of the three counties, all of which are in large measure dependent upon the Santa Ana river for irrigation water, and dry years have forced the matter rapidly to the front. Added to that is the fact that in order to get the use of $50,000 from the state an equal amount must be raised. It therefore seems certain that an agreement must be reached whereby each of the three counties will raise approximately $17,000 in this year's budget for use in connection with the state project. We are not familiar with the details of the plan, but as we understand it, this sum will not include the usual expenditures in spreading of water at the debris cone of the Santa Ana river.

The opportunity to get this important work done in conjunction with the state ought not be overlooked, and, we believe, is not likely to be overlooked, for the supervisors of the three counties are fully alive to the importance of going ahead with water conservation plans. It is up to a board of supervisors, more than to any other organized body, to proceed with this kind of work. And there should be no delays.

SMOKERS, BEWARE!

Special attention is called, and commendation is given, to the new law which takes effect in California on July 24th, and which, it is hoped, will be the means of putting an end to the many fires which have been attributed to carelessness.

This law makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, to throw lighted matches, cigarettes, cigars, etc., from a moving vehicle within the state of California.

It will be necessary for smokers to keep a receptacle in the car for cigarette or cigar stubs.

Under the new law it will also be unlawful to smoke in the forests of California, except in camp, where the brush has been cleared away.

State Forestry officials have been notified to effect strict enforcement of the law, and they should have the hearty co-operation of every good citizen in doing so.

FITTING FOLKS TO JOBS

Forty-four states, with financial aid from the federal government and working through their own technical schools and other institutions, are carrying on industrial rehabilitation work. During the past year they helped 5,584 disabled men to qualify for some congenial and suitable employment. In many cases these men are now earning more money than they were before their accidents.

It may seem strange to regard any disabling accident as beneficial. Yet when such an accident removes a man or boy from a job in which he was never either very happy or very successful and gives him his chance at specialized training, it frequently does benefit him financially and spiritually, if not physically.

The son of a miner usually goes to work in the mines while still a boy. He joins an occupational group already overcrowded. His tasks may be unwholesome, his working days irregular and his wages uncertain. Then he is injured in some mine accident and, after he has gone through the rehabilitation process, he finds himself in a better paying and less hazardous occupation. He has been helped to that because his case has been studied separately with special interest in his natural bent, his special gifts and his past experience.

Yet it should not be necessary to risk an individual's life and injure his limbs in order to place him in happy and self-respecting work. Some day there must be vocational guidance and habilitation work in the public schools before the mistakes have been made and the accidents have occurred.

A DRIVE FOR WORLD COURT

Various American groups that have been working for world peace independently, and sometimes at odds with each other, are joining their forces. As a result, there is to be a massed attack next winter on the Senate, for adherence to the World Court.

It is not likely that this effort will find much opposition outside of the Senate. As far as can be judged by the utterances of various economic, social, religious and educational groups, the public is overwhelmingly in favor of working with the World Court and upholding it as an instrument of world peace. The House of Representatives is strongly in favor of membership. Three presidents in turn have urged membership. There is evidently nothing partisan about the matter. And there are indications that in the Senate itself hostility is waning.

The present proposal accepts the reservations suggested by President Harding and Coolidge. It makes another interesting condition, using the general foreign desire for American participation in the court as a club against warfare. It provides that the United States may withdraw from the court if the nations of Europe do not join in a conference to outlaw war within two years, and do not negotiate a treaty outlawing war within five years.

With war "outlawed," the court might become a real power in international affairs. The end sought is a difficult one, but the nations seem to be getting into a mood for more drastic action against war than they have shown hitherto, so something may come of the attempt.

We sometimes think that a "very successful man" in this country is a man who has to devote all his time and energy to living up to his success.

First Results in Road Fight

San Bernardino Sun.
First fruits have developed from Southern California's firm stand that highway funds must be split 50-50 between the northern and southern portions of the state. The state highway commission has announced that the $4,900,000 to be available from the government for federal aid roads will be divided equally between the two sections of the state. The previous split had been 66 per cent to the north and 34 per cent to the south.

This was the issue that blocked the gasoline tax increase during the last session and raised political issues that will run into the next state campaign. The south fought the gasoline tax because there was no assurance that the money would be divided equally although the southern end of the state would contribute somewhat more than half of the funds.

Southern California has tired of advancing more than half of the money for state highway purposes and receiving in return only a third of the appropriations.

It is announced the decision for the 50-50 split was made at a lengthy conference attended by Governor Friend W. Richardson. The conference was held on Monday. That the Governor expected to take a hand in a new road policy and that it would be a 50-50 allocation was announced in San Francisco newspapers of Monday morning. Apparently since Southern California's temper was displayed in the gasoline tax matter, the equal division issue has been recognized as a dangerous doctrine in a political campaign.

The decision of the state administration, however, to face the allocation issue should have been made during the legislative session. The gasoline tax bill would have passed and money would now be rolling in to complete the transcontinental highways that must play a big part in winning back for California the great traffic rush that the state once enjoyed. Failure to provide money to hurry the completion of these highways was a serious blunder to the prosperity of the entire state. California can not attract motor tourists from the east unless the highways entering the state are in keeping with the state's reputation for good highways.

The new move by Governor Richardson, however, may or may not help him. It may, however, hurt C. C. Young, the lieutenant governor who has aspirations to be governor. It will be remembered that Young cast the deciding vote against allocation of highway funds. The Southern California opposition to Richardson is based largely on his failure to point the way in a highway program, and Young may have difficulty in capitalizing the Richardson opposition in the south because of Richardson's record toward Southern California highways now has the edge over Young.

Hope Lies In Common Tongue

San Francisco Chronicle.
A lack of a sense of nationality, as that galvanic sentiment is understood in European countries and in America, has retarded the development of the Chinese people as a world force. In recent years, because of the infiltration of Western ideas among the Chinese student bodies, this sense of national unity has been growing. It is the lesson that is now stirring these 430,000,000 to assert their native rights and the explanation of the increasing resentment against foreign dictation and control.

One of the principal difficulties in the way of this unification of the people has been the variety of dialects spoken in the different provinces. To remedy this defect, it is proposed to take the Mandarin dialect, now spoken by two-thirds of the people, and make it the universal language.

The written language of the Chinese embraces as many as 50,000 characters. Even the Confucian, or classical, writings contain 8000, and naturally it takes years to memorize them. To aid the illiterates, scholars have selected 1000 of the simpler characters, sufficient to express the thoughts and needs of everyday intercourse, and a body of volunteer teachers is now instructing the masses in their use.

Furthermore, there has been introduced a system of phonetic spelling which can be absorbed with even greater ease than the selected list of characters. But, as the newspapers and all the classical writings are in the ancient picture form, it is not surprising that the phonetic will ever supplant the traditional form of writing.

This movement to instruct all the Chinese of whatever province or dialect in the use of a common tongue and to teach them to read is one of the interesting developments of modern Chinese political and cultural life. It will take a long time to complete its mission, but already there are signs that China is on the way to a national awakening that some day must challenge the attention of the world.

The Future of Light

Sacramento Bee.
Professor J. B. S. Haldane, an English authority on electricity, predicts that in the near future night virtually will be abolished in cities by cheap electricity, because methods will be devised for making electric lighting vastly cheaper than it now is.

He says that now only 5 per cent of the energy expended in an incandescent lamp is converted into light. Also that

"even tomorrow there may be discovered a cheap proof-proof and durable storage battery which would revolutionize the electric light and power industry by enabling it to store electricity as gas is now stored in a gas-holder or oil in a barrel."

Doubtless such cheapening of electrical service would be of enormous practical benefit. But the idea of "abolishing night" in cities or towns is not a possibility of unbounded satisfaction.

Many people may think there is already far too much conversion of night into day; that more sleep would be better than more light.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

IF YOU CAMP, BE CAREFUL

Each year from about July 1 to October 1 typhoid fever cases show an increase.

Health authorities attribute part of this increase to camp life. Getting back to nature is all right for the city dweller, but the city dweller should mix a good dose of safety with his romance.

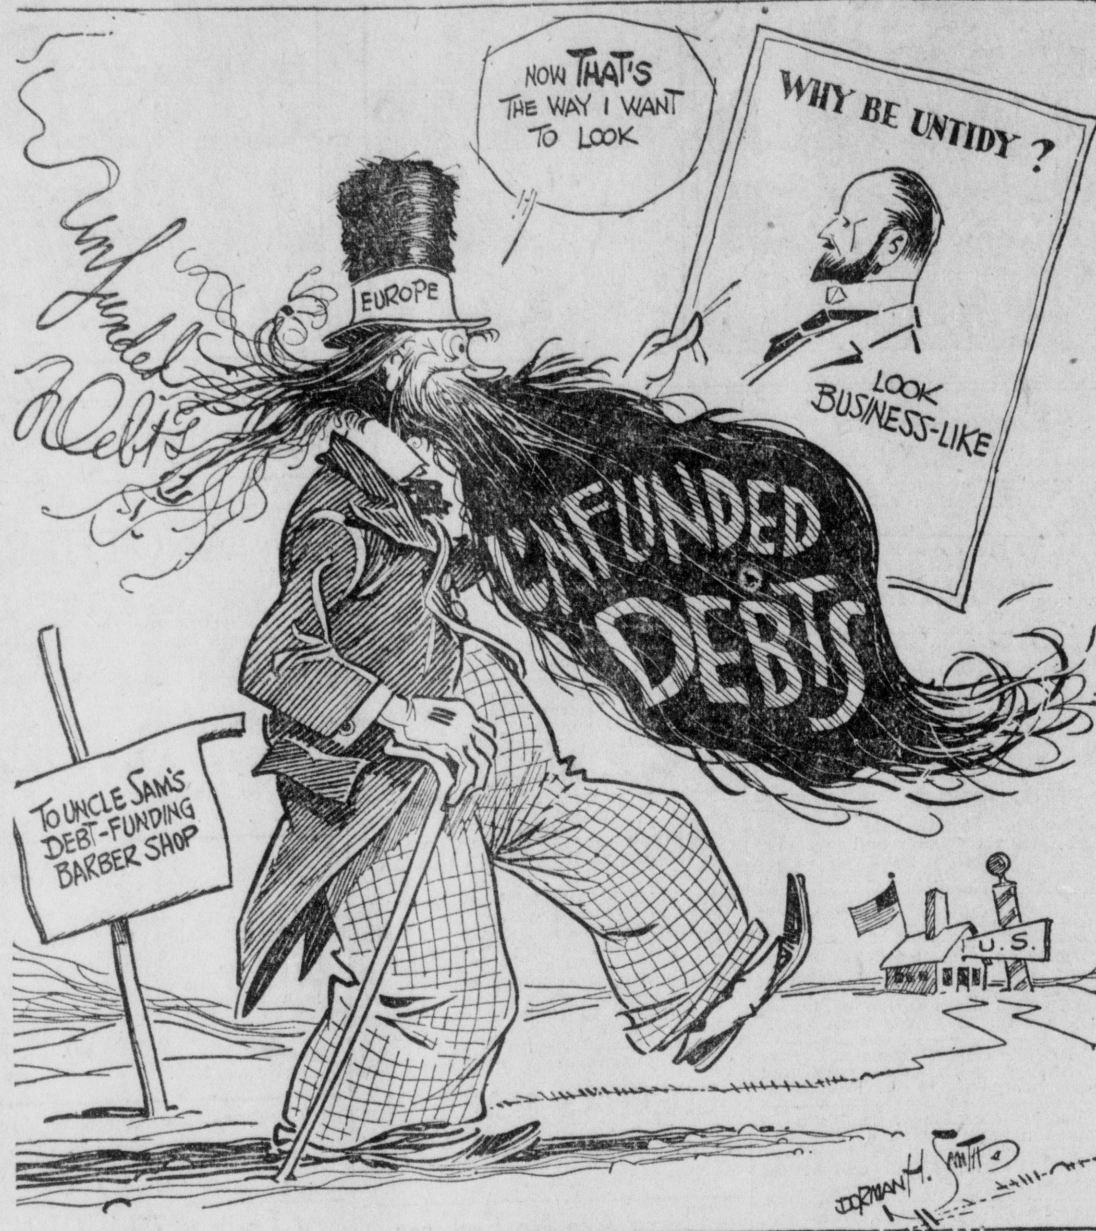

This means that he should be careful of his drinking water in camp, and fight against flies which carry typhoid fever germs from sewage to the camp food.

Water from babbling brooks is not always pure. Neither is the water from the "Old Oaken Bucket." Often folk in the country are careless with the disposal of sewage. The babbling brook may have its source near a house where recently there has been typhoid fever.

Milk and butter purchased in the country, or in the city, may contain typhoid germs.

The camp should be kept scrupulously clean. Just because one is out in the woods is no reason for letting up on house-cleaning duties.

Getting Back His Self-Respect

Secrets

By Angelo Patri in July Red Book.

Man, beyond all other creatures of the earth, is lonely. Well hidden within him lies the secret of his being, always aching to be told, always shrinking from the telling. The human spirit has no gift of tongues. It throws out shy signals which are to be read only by the most discerning eye, and that often after all significance has vanished.

Man remains stranger to men, and very lonely. Wistfully he strives to pierce the veil that divides him from his brothers, only to find that it must be worn down by the long friction of the soul and body, and that the day of its falling is still afar off. He must still guard his secret.

Behind his screen lies the soul that his daily toil is creating, the elusive thing rarely glimpsed, and never known truly. None may look upon a soul in travail. It is guarded as though by the angel with the flaming sword throughout its trial. Thread by thread the protesting body yields its very substance to sustain it. Today a grain of selfishness turns into silvery radiance under the hand of the builder, and tomorrow a bit of the heart's desire becomes part of the flame of its immortality. Slowly the body fines down, and triumphantly the soul surges forward, yet ever alone and in silence.

Then there comes the hour when the last threads between body and soul hang slack. The building is almost over. Comes the instant when the guarding angel says, "Enough," and his sword cuts the last clinging threads, and the soul fares free for its passing. Often in that flashing instant there comes to you a stunning revelation, a hint of the cherished secret, a scintillating memory that thrills and uplifts you and drowns you in tears. But no words come to you or from you. There is always the touch of the inexplicable, of haunting beauty and unearthly glory.

How many times have you said afterward, "If we had only known! Why didn't he explain? Why didn't she tell us? How could we know?" as you turned over an old bundle of letters or thumbed a creased paper that hinted of long worn sorrows and pressing burdens hidden for a lifetime! "We'd have felt so different. We'd have done so much better. We would have been kinder."

The soul cannot explain. It must be interpreted. The heart knoweth its own bitterness, but it cannot utter it so that you can understand. You never know the real story, because nobody is even at liberty to tell it. The core of the hurt was never brought out for your inspection; the yearning that tore the body apart and turned into the shining radiance of the soul, cramped the tongue to silence.

Who, then, are we to judge one another? Who is to say he should have done this or that or the other? Only when all the story is told can the judgment be rendered, and a soul speaks only to God who made it. If, then, there is nothing of kindness we can murmur, suppose we pass by in silence, remembering that man is very lonely and bears his soul in sorrow.

Worth While Verse

EVENSONG

Beauty calls and gives no warning.
Shadows rise and wander on the day.
In the twilight, in the quiet evening,
We shall rise and smile and go away.
Over the flaming leaves
Freezes the sky.
It is the season grieves,
Not you, nor I.
All our Springtimes, all our Summers,
We have kept the longing warm within.
Now we leave the after-comers
To attain the dreams we did not win.
O we have awakened, Sweet, and have our birth.
And that's the end of earth;
And we have toiled and smiled and kept the light.
And that's the end of night.

WANTED COMFORT

He and his young wife were taken for a motor trip by some friends. She admired his anxiety about her comfort.

"Are you all right?" he asked.
"Quite, dear."
"Cushions comfortable?"
"Quite, darling."
"Not being jolted?"
"Oh, no, sweetheart."
"Not in a draft?"
"No, lambkin."
"Then change seats with me."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

MEMOIRS

Hal Cochran's
DAILY
POEM

I'd like to read the mem'ries of a lady, old and gray. I'd like to know how diff'rent were the things of yesterday. What fun 'twould be to echo back and thus, to really know how turned about our doings are as changes come and go.

I've heard folks speak of horse cars and of good old buggy days. I've read of real old-timers and their quaint old-fashioned ways. It's hard to really realize that hoop-skirts once were worn, but grandma says they were, before much newer styles were born.

Imagine days when autos, and when movies were unknown. And think in just the past few years, how great these things have grown. The wonders of the present day were once not even dreamed. No wonder we all wonder just how queer things must have seemed.

And yet, I'll bet our grandfolds often have that little ache, that likes to play around their hearts, perhaps for old-times' sake. They must have been real restfulness when life was calm and slow. I wonder, are we better off today, than years ago.

A Pessimistic View of the Automobile

Sacramento Bee

Rather a doleful article concerning the automobile appears in a recent number of the Atlantic.

It is written by a banker, who makes no secret of his conviction that the "joy wagon" is very much more of a liability than an asset, although he does not state the case exactly in that way.

To begin with, he relates his own experience. He always had been thrifty and careful of his money, never buying anything he was not able to pay for in full. So his first venture on wheels was with a "used" car costing him $150, and on his first ride he had a "blow-out." Similar experiences followed, until he "traded in" his original purchase for a new car. He gives further particulars, but it is sufficient to say he concludes cars in general are an expensive luxury and commonly an extravagance.

The article as a whole deals with the economic aspects of the automobile. It appears that no matter how much a young man's acquisition of an expensive car may raise his social standing, or excite envy among his acquaintances, it does not tend to elevate his financial status.

Incidentally, the writer of the article relates that he refused a bank clerk, who had become entangled in a car transaction a loan of $25, and that subsequently the clerk lost his job because of irritability excited by worry regarding payments on the instalment plan.

It further is set forth that many business men impair their credit by purchase of a costly car when they are owing money to banks, or by borrowing to make such an acquisition when the loan is supposed to be for business purposes.

But of the bright side of the automobile subject the magazine writer has little or nothing to say. Yet no doubt the relatively cheap but serviceable cars have been a great benefit to millions of farmers and other classes of workers. It has enabled a host of men to establish homes in the country although continuing to work in town or city. This is a boon not only to themselves but also their families. It likewise tends to relieve the congestion of urban population, which causes scarcity of dwellings and increase of rentals to high figures.

To a large extent, also, the automobile puts the attractions and advantages of the city within reach of dwellers in the country, while enabling the city dwellers' occasionally to enjoy the charms of the "open spaces."

The primary problem involved in the purchase of a car is purely of an individual nature as to which a general rule scarcely can be applied.

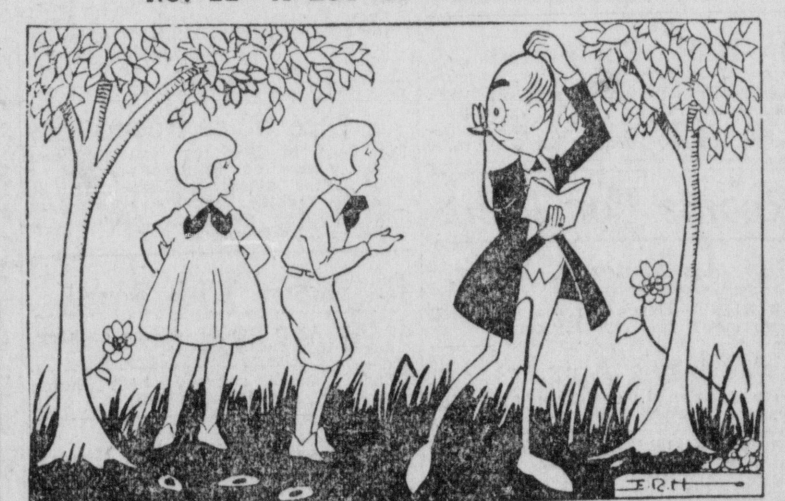

Doubtless there often is extravagance and unwisdom in this respect, as in various others. But on the other hand it is probable that the desire to own and use a car frequently is a spur to honest endeavor and increased efficiency and usefulness.

To a very large proportion of Americans the automobile assuredly has made life more attractive and better worth living. And certainly also, from the purely utilitarian aspect, it has proved one of the most valuable and useful of all modern inventions.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 22—A LOT OF FUNNY PEOPLE

The next person the Twins met in the Land of Wonders was the Mandrake.

Now the mandrake is a lovely flower that grows in the spring, under a cute little green umbrella, and known to many people as the Mayapple blossom.

"This one was most unusual. He had a man's body and a drake's head, and looked quite satisfied with himself and all the world in general. Particularly with his polka-dot tie done in a neat bow under his chin.

Beside him was a canvas-back duck dressed neatly in a dress of dark brown canvas.

"How do you do!" said Nancy and Nick. "Did you see any stray bees hereabouts? They belong to the Fairy Queen and they are lost. She hasn't had any honey for two weeks."

"Oh! Oh!" gasped the canvas-back duck. "I almost fainted. I thought you were going to say anything you wanted to say about me and it always gives me a turn."

"No," said the Twins. "The Fairy Queen doesn't care for anything but honey on her bread. The pixies stole the bees and brought them here. If you see them, will you please tell us."

"Sure, we will," said Mr. Mandrake grandly. "We'll honk as loudly as we know how, if they come this way."

And they passed on. Next the Twins met a griddle-cake and a butter-fly.

"Hello here!" said the criddle-cake. "How are you?"

"Pretty well, thank you," said the Twins in surprise. "And how are you?"

"The scholar passed on. (To Be Continued.)
